Smith-Hughes Act Provides for Federal Aid to State Institutions to Teach Practical Work

GREAT NEED IN THE COUNTRY

Less Than 25,000 of Million Youths Who Annually Start Work Have Any Training for Jobs

CENTERS ABOUT FIVE-MAN BOARD

They Are to Be Named by the President and to Investigate Concerning American Problems

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—

The vocational school, product of European educational systems, is soon to become an American institution. A bill authorizing the establishment of a federal board for vocational education and appropriations for vocational schools has been reported favorably by the committee on education and now awaits the vote of congress. This bill, called the Smith-Hughes bill because it was introduced in the house by Congressman Dudley M. Hughes and in the senate by Senator Hoke Smith, both of Georgia, includes the substance of the Smith-Lever Act of 1914, which provided that the federal government should co-operate with the various states in teaching scientific farming in the rural communities.

Provides U. S. Funds

Briefly, the Smith-Lever Act provided funds for each state that could produce an equal amount, to be expended in teaching the youth of the farming districts how to farm. Already the crops raised by these students are from 50 to 100 per cent superior to those raised under the old methods.

While the youth on the farm was being trained, by government assistance, the youth of the cities was often leaving the public schools unprepared to earn his living, for only larger cities have vocational training. After spending eight years of his life in the school room, the American boy is hardly further equipped towards earning a living than he was when he first started. He may show a distinct aptitude for several things, but is handicapped on account of his lack of practical training, with the result that he is compelled to accept the first job which opportunity offers. Having a leaning toward mechanics or bricklaying, he must sell newspapers or become an office boy because he does not know how to do anything else. The apprentice system long ago went out of existence, leaving no kind of training to take its place.

In Georgia, particularly, the lack of trained labor is a serious problem. The state is rich in agriculture and minerals, which, instead of building up large industries there, are shipped to New England and the middle west for manufacture. Congressman Hughes of Georgia has in his office a device for sealing letters made in England. O. from London are mined in his home country. If Georgia could supply the capital labor to operate factories, she could move to the north and west. This statement applies to much of the south.

Great Need of Country

Furthermore, the whole United States needs vocational education. Congressman Hughes estimates that out of the 1,000,000 youths who yearly begin the earning of their living, only 25,000 are in any way prepared to undertake the task. To provide these boys with technical education that will permit them confidently to pursue their trade, is the main purpose of the federal board. The girls, also, are to be taught home economics and appropriate trades, in addition to which there is also provision for adults who make

To a Butcher's Boy in Stratford

(By Howard Mumford Jones)

"WHEN (Shakespeare) killed a calf, he would do it in a high style and make a speech. There was at that time another butcher's son in this town, that was held not at all inferior to him for a natural wit, his acquaintance and coetanean, but dyed young."

—Aubrey.

Who were you, pray, you other butcher's son
That equalled Will in readiness of wit
And turned the killing of a calf to fun,
Making extempore speech to season it?
(More shadowy speech than yours Time knoweth none!)

What color was your hair, boy, dark or light
As you went through the streets of Stratford Town,
And your eyes, were they deep and quick of sight,
With even a mightier memory than his own?
And, like boys always, did you sometimes fight?

Boy, did you beat him? Think of beating Will,
The marvelous, the god all men adore!
Perhaps you tripped him headlong down a hill
Sometimes, whereat he thumped your body sore—
(There's many of us would take that thumping still!)

And was he jealous of your rivalry?—
That could not be—we know our Will too well!
Or did he clap you with apprentice glee,
Playing the groundling or the scented swell
Till his turn came to mimic Anthony.

You must have been superb, O butcher's boy,
You shadowy wraith beneath the heels of Time,
You rivalled Shakespeare once! At his employ
There are not many to such heights, that climb—
Perhaps the gods grew jealous of their toy.

Perhaps they needed you to fill their stage
With plays that would have been our Will's despair;
Who knows what mightier Hamlets once did rage
Beneath your shadowy shock of tangled hair?
Whom the gods love—we trust you have your wage.

Perhaps their purpose had a kindlier cause—
You might have failed; at any rate, you died,
And he went on to London, won applause,
Grew wealthy and forgot—calves have no pride!
And you—I wonder who your mother was!

Lynch Convicted and Sentenced to Be Shot; President Demands Execution Be Held Up

SHOOTING SET EARLY THIS MORNING

Message from London Embassy Casts Doubt as to Status of Condemned American

LONDON, May 19.—Jeremiah C. Lynch of New York, naturalized American citizen, convicted by a court martial of participation in the Dublin rebellion, will not pay the penalty fixed by the court martial until a full investigation is made.

The war office announced late this afternoon that General Sir John Maxwell, in command of the government forces in Ireland has been requested not to dispose of the Lynch case pending an inquiry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—President Wilson, acting at the request of Senator O'Gorman of New York, sent a message Thursday night through the state department to Ambassador Page at London directing him to make every possible effort to secure a delay in the execution of sentence on Jeremiah C. Lynch of New York, a naturalized American, who was convicted by a court martial of being implicated in the Irish uprising in Dublin. He was sentenced to be shot.

Tidings of Lynch's jeopardy reached the president late last night as he sat in a box at the theater. He was told that at midnight, Washington time (4 a. m., Dublin time) Lynch was to be shot. He instructed Acting Secretary of State Polk to cable a virtual demand to Great Britain that the execution be stayed until the United States should be better informed of the case.

Whether this demand reaches Dublin in time to save Lynch is the question worrying the president.

General Bell to Report Officer Killed on American Soil and Dragged Across Border

DISCREDIT INTOXICATION TALE

Gavira Reported American Was Intoxicated and Fired Upon Mexican Troops

EL PASO, Tex., May 19.—Sergeant Harry Furman, a member of the machine gun company of the Twenty-third infantry, was shot and killed a mile and a half east of Juarez yesterday by Mexican guards.

Furman was killed on American soil by Carranza soldiers and his body dragged to Mexican soil, will be the report that the investigating board will make today to General George Bell in command at Fort Bliss. The board is headed by Major George Moore. The body showed evidence of having been dragged, the face, arms, and hands being lacerated and the clothing being torn. A strap had been tied around the wrist. The board traced the trail of the body and accompanying footsteps from the American to the Mexican side.

Alleged intoxication. General Gavira, Mexican commandant at Juarez, who reported the case to Bell, said that Furman had been intoxicated and had opened fire on the Mexican troops. Lieutenant Dean Halford, commanding the machine gun squad, testified that he had talked to Furman a few minutes before the shooting and that Furman showed no trace of liquor. Furman was searching for stray mules in the open country along the Rio Grande east of Juarez. His body was returned to the American side. Trouble was feared last night from members of the dead man's regiment, but no disturbances took place.

Statements of Poincare and Sir Edward Grey Believed First Guns in an Informal Discussion

DUTCH SEE U. S. AS MEDIATOR

American Duty to Work For End of Bloodshed, Says Holland; Allies Stick, Says Viviani

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) BERLIN, via Wireless to Tucker, N. J., May 19.—There is a feeling here that if a strong neutral, such as the United States, undertook to negotiate peace it might succeed.

Diplomatic circles regard the recent statements of President Poincare and Sir Edward Grey as the opening guns in an informal discussion of peace though the expressions from the allied leaders, when ranged alongside the German chancellor's recent reichstag speech, do not appear altogether conciliatory.

(The above dispatch is probably the most frank discussion of peace rumors in circulation in European capitals yet passed by the German censor.) No decision has been reached here as to whether any official reply to these statements will be made public by the German government, though it is possible this will be done. One official with whom I talked today declared that making peace at this stage of the war would be no more difficult than adjusting the recent German-American submarine dispute. He pointed out, however, that no belligerent can publicly state definite terms of peace while informal discussions continue with each side making drastic statements of what it intends to accomplish as the result of the war.

Dutch Look to U. S.

I have just returned from a visit to Holland, where I found that Dutchmen believe the English, French and German people all desire peace. The general impression in Holland is that the time for a decisive victory for either side has passed.

SUPREME COURT IN
'98 DECLARED CITY
HANDS WERE TIED

Damage Suit Involving Accident on La Crescent Pike Resulted in a Sweeping Decision

STATE LINE LIMITS ITS POWER

Can Neither Assume Authority nor Have it Thrust Upon City by Another State's Legislature

The city of La Crosse can neither assume nor be charged with responsibility for the La Crescent pike, nor can it legally expend money upon it. This appears to be well established by the decision of the Wisconsin supreme court in the case of Becker vs. City of La Crosse, 99 Wisconsin, 414. Judge E. C. Higbee, then a La Crosse practitioner, brought an action for Mrs. Becker to recover damages from the city for an injury received on the pike, and secured a verdict.

The facts in the case were that the federal government had approved the bridge plans, a necessary step related only to the circumstance that the bridge was to cross a navigable river forming an interstate boundary; in granting La Crosse permission to build the bridge and pike, the Minnesota legislature had passed a law attempting to impose upon La Crosse responsibility for the upkeep and ownership of the road.

The court held that every transaction of the city of La Crosse touching the road was illegal, because it was not within the state boundaries, and that the Minnesota statute was powerless to legalize such ultra vires acts of city authorities.

The decision is sweeping in character, and at least so far as the Wisconsin courts are supreme authority in the matter, settles adversely the question of legal means by which La Crosse can repair the bridges in Minnesota.

The suit was filed in April, 1898. The opinion of the court, written by Justice Bardeen, follows:

The Opinion

From the statement of the facts involved in this litigation, it will be observed that the accident to plaintiff happened on an embankment, some little distance west of the west end of the bridge across the Mississippi river, outside of the corporate limits of the city of La Crosse, and beyond the limits of this state; and

Several Important Italian Positions Captured and More Than 900 Prisoners Are Taken

ITALIAN COUNTER ATTEMPT FAILS

Repeated Efforts to Recapture Lost Positions Fall Down; Report Austrian Losses Great

PARIS, May 19.—Emperor Franz Josef is hailing all his available forces against the Italian front planning to invade northern Italy and force King Victor Emmanuel to sue for a separate peace.

BERLIN, May 19.—Austrian troops continuing their drive in the southern Tyrol have conquered several more important Italian positions, taking more than 900 prisoners, said an official statement issued at Vienna last night and telegraphed here today.

"In southern Tyrol, the Austrian attack conquered the frontier ridge of Maggio, between the Astico and Lano valleys," said the official statement. "Austrian troops captured Costabella. Our troops repulsed several hostile attacks south of Moscheri and on Zugnotorta (south of Rovereto)."

"On the coastland and Trentino front, artillery was generally hindered by a fog which covered the ground. Southwest of Montafalone, the Italians attempted to reconquer a recently lost position near Bagni, but were repulsed. In the Goldiana district repeated enemy attacks failed."

"The Austrians yesterday captured more than 900 Italians, among them twelve officers, and took 18 cannon and hostile machine guns."

"The Italian official reports of May 16 and 17 state that Austrian losses in these engagements were terrible and enormous. These reports are invented in order to diminish the impression made by the Italian retreat."

GREAT TRAIN ATTENDS
GOOD QUEEN BESS IN PROGRESS THROUGH CITYWILL SHAKESPEARE AND GLOBE
PLAYERS CATCH OUR TOWNSFOLK

Great Show of Costly Stuffs and Furbelows Makes Bard of Avon's Tercentenary Holiday Rival Ancient Field of Cloth of Gold.

Escorted by retainers approaching the number of a thousand, Good Queen Bess and her court today made progress through the streets of this loyal city and were right fittingly amused by the endeavors of divers of the train at the conclusion of the holiday. Notably present among the nobles and gentry of her majesty's route was a company of players headed by one Will Shakespeare, a master-mummer and author of plays with which the virgin lady was entertained.

The royal progress began shortly after two of the clock from that high school which stands hard by the corner of Cass and Fifteenth streets, where there did assemble with jollity befitting the holiday the members of the queen's tail and such citizens, mimes and mummers as were commanded to partake in the honors paid to our lady. Right well did the loyal subjects of the queen invest themselves for her entertainment, and of costly stuffs and quaint devices of fashion and furbelow there was goodly show. Indeed, 'twas said by many learned ones there present that even the Field of Cloth of Gold well described by sundry ancient chroniclers, showed no more pretty and various a show, or more pleasing display.

THE LID ON STUDY

The learned professors at the hall of learning had declared holiday today, as had those at that adjacent seat of learning hight, the normal school, and all was in train to do the queen all honor and respect. Various of the apartments about the building in which the students are wont to be lectured by their learned elders were transformed into tiring rooms, and the refectory shortly before the hour of noon looked like the gallery of her majesty's till-yard at Windsor on a day of jousts.

Caparished morris-dancers and fairy-masks flitted about the corridors of the building, and stalwart soldiers and eke many a mummer representing notable personages of England and other lands, now long dead and preserved in ancient histories, hob-and-nobbed in the flesh before the irreverent eyes of erstwhile boon-companions, who hesitated not to call this one "Julie," and that "Ham," and yet dub the noble Thane of Caithness "Mac" as were he no more than any grave-digger turning up skulls in his neighbor's train.

THE CROWD IS MOBISH

Her majesty's chief marshal, the right worshipful Sir Roswell Puckett, assembled his minions and gave orders for the order of the procession shortly before the hour of two, and a right toilsome time had he to mass his thousand in some sort to preserve the decorum proper to a queen's escort. When the procession got fairly on its way toward the bank of the fair river where the games were to be displayed before the good queen, it was found that townspeople to the number of many thousands had gathered upon the line of the progress, where louted they low as of that idol of the London fogs, Will Shakespeare and his riotous crew of the Globe playhouse. Dainty pages and nimble dancers capered in the train behind the goodly queen who sat her palfrey in the midst all unmoved.

Arrangements had been well set for the celebration by the authorities of the city. Stalwart yeomen of the city watch were detailed to keep back the press at the ground by the river bank where the games were to be given, and arrangements were fixed to range the chariots of the gentry who assembled to watch in divisions out of harm's way. Numerous strangers from Dubuque and Tomah, in big caravans, made pilgrimage to the city today to attend the celebration in honor of the queen and her favored writer.

A motley array of jesters in pied red and yellow set out before the vanguard of her majesty's train, warning the townsfolk of the approach of the rout and dispensing favors to the folk.

Notable among the queen's attendants was a band of queer red-skinned men, their heads crowned with the features of birds in variegated colors like nothing ever seen in this land. They were said by wise members of the court to be ambassadors from the queen's new province of Virginia in America, brought hither by Sir Walter Raleigh, who indeed seemed much at home in their company.

Two bands of music stirred the feet of the queen's people to a livelier gait during the march. Other musicians of the court there were in numbers, marching with the groups of mimes and attending upon her majesty.

Formation of Armory Association to Be Proposed to Militiamen at Meeting Monday Night

First steps towards the formation of an association here for the purpose of building an armory will be taken at a meeting of members of Company M. W. N. G., and the La Crosse hospital corps, also a unit of the Wisconsin militia, Monday night.

Backers of the plan propose the erection of a building to cost from $75,000 to $100,000, the capital for which is to be raised through subscription, if the scheme goes through. It was said today that Adjutant General Orlando B. Holway, head of the Wisconsin militia and Captain Frank H. Fowler, commanding officer of Company M, soon to become the first Wisconsin Aero corps, have agreed with the tentative plans.

It is understood that twenty-three members of the La Crosse national guard and business men have promised to subscribe to the fund.

Daily
Short Story

TOO VICTORIAN

BY JANE OSBORN
(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
"Ida Lester, if you want to be abominably Victorian just go ahead and mope around the way you are doing now." Seventeen-year-old Ruth Lester—Ida's pretty golden-haired sister—looked up from her algebra and glanced whimsically over her study spectacles. "Thank fortune, I've never been in love—Oh, there's no use saying you aren't. Nowadays girls come right out and say so when they are. But I suppose if you insist on being Victorian you just won't be frank about it. I was saying that if I ever did fall in love and then lost out the way you have—well, you needn't look so offended, you know you have—why, I wouldn't mope around about it. I'd use my brains, same as a man would.

"I suppose you would go on this way all your life and never lift your little finger to mend matters. You are about as progressive in your methods as that poor Miss Faversham in Dickens' that wore her wedding dress all her life just because she ran against a snag in her first love affair. Use your brains, girl, and cut out this early-decline business. Your pose now is to say that you aren't in love with Matthew. It makes you perfectly furious just to have me mention it, and then you go around looking as lovesick as Romeo in the first act. Now the really up-to-date, advanced thing to do is to say right out that you are crazy about him and then look as if you weren't. And, in the meantime, think up a plot. That's what a man would do."
Ida heaved the sigh of the love-lorn.
"Well, smarty, since you know it all," she said, going over to her sister and closing the algebra she was studying, "what sort of plot would you perpetrate? Would you go down to Matthew's apartment through the dumb waiter shaft and steal the young hero away in the still night?"
"Now you're talking!" said Ruth, springing to her feet. "That might be a good plot if the hero wasn't six feet one and the heroine only five feet three. I've thought out something even craftier than that. The facts in the case are thus." Here Ruth began tabulating them on a page of her algebra notebook. "Hero is really very fond of heroine if not actually in love with her. Hero naturally timid and not much of a lady's man. Hero lives in same apartment house as heroine, and just before heroine gets him to the proposing point she plays her cards wrong and tries to make the hero jealous—one of the most usual mistakes of the game when played by the young and inexperienced female."

"Ruth!" There was deep reproof in Ida's voice. "What would mother say if she heard you?"
"Mother isn't going to hear, you may be jolly certain, and, besides, I am only giving you the good sound advice which if mother wasn't another Victorian she'd be giving you herself—only perhaps not just this way. As I said, heroine gets the hero to think that she is indifferent and deliberately arranges to have other suitors hanging around at the time he calls. Result: Hero, instead of getting jealous, just gets a case of cold pedal extremities. Deadlock follows. Hero won't take first step—too scared. Heroine won't either—too Victorian. What you want to do is to do something that will make the hero think that the heroine does care without actually calling him up over the phone and saying, 'Matthew, I love you!'—which you know you do. That would be a bold, brave stroke, but it might be a little too crude for the present-day male brought up to Victorian standards."
"Here is where the craft comes in. You remember that little baby ring with the blue-enamel forget-me-nots that the hero gave the heroine in a moment of sentimental fervor at a picnic last summer. Now, don't look surprised. Of course I know he gave it to you. Haven't I seen you wear it around your neck on a piece of white wash ribbon every night since? Do you think I keep my eyes in my pajama pockets? Now if the hero thought the heroine had lost that ring and thought she cared a lot for it he'd think that she cared a lot for him without actually having to be told so. He'd also have the satisfaction of thinking himself something of a Sherlock Holmes in making the deduction. Do you follow the proposition?"
"Of course you haven't lost the ring, but just the same you can put an advertisement in all the papers like this:
"LOST—A baby ring with small forget-me-nots. Of small intrinsic worth, but highly prized by the owner. Reward, $75."
"I know you haven't got seventy-five dollars all your own, silly, but what difference does that make? You haven't lost the ring either. Now, sooner or later, the hero is bound to read that advertisement and after he puts his shrewd masculine wits to work for about half an hour it will begin to dawn on him that the poor little five-foot-three heroine misses him, wants to see him, loves him dearly. You know it doesn't take much to persuade a man that a girl loves him. You didn't know that? That just shows that you aren't so wise as your little sister Ruthie, even if you have been to boarding school.

"And what will come of it?" Ruth continued, anticipating Ida's query. That's the question. It is also where the nice part of the plot comes in. The hero is bound to do something, and since you don't know just what that something is the interest is sustained till the story ends."
It was a week later and the advertisement had appeared for five days in the three local papers. Then one day Ida came to Ruth's room and interrupted her in the midst of her algebra. Ruth removed her spectacles and focused her blue eyes on her sister.
"The plot has thickened. I can tell it in your face. Tell me, tell me."
"It's so funny," Ida was crushing an opened letter in her hand. "Some one has found the ring, yet I still have it. Isn't that weird? And if it is a ring of forget-me-nots I suppose I shall have to pay the reward."
"Goose!" was Ruth's rejoinder.
"It's Matthew that answered. He didn't find it. He's just saying he did. He thinks he is being crafty just the way I said he would and he thinks you did lose it and he's just pretending he found it so as to have a chance to see you. Poor boob, doesn't he realize that he could walk right up to our front door and ring the bell and ask to see you? That would never enter that man's brain of his. But it is fine. The plot is working!"

"But it isn't Matthew at all," Ida insisted. "Don't you suppose I know his handwriting?"
"And do you think that Matthew would be so unthinking as to write it in his own hand? He's either got some one else to write it or he's disguised his own. That is where he is getting as much fun out of the plot as we are. He thinks he's being shrewd. A man always loves that."
"If he did write that letter, I am sure he is very clever, for I never would have thought that it was from him—and I am not at all sure that it is even now. See, the writer says he will return the ring to the owner if she will meet him in the mail at the park at 4 o'clock this afternoon. And she is to know him because he will wear a red rose and—"
"How did he know it was a girl that lost the ring and how did he know that the mail is the park just across the way from the owner's house?"
"I'm sure I don't know, but coincidences like that are not unusual. Anyway, I shall keep the appointment—alone."
"Sure you will, smarty. I wouldn't get mixed up in an affair of the heart like this for all the forget-me-not rings in the world!"
At 6 o'clock Ruth, still poring over her algebra, saw a very pink-faced bright-eyed sister dash into her room.
"Who do you think I've been walking with, and he's coming back after dinner? Matthew! But it wasn't he that wrote the letter. In fact, I didn't wait for the man with the red rose. Matthew just happened to be there and when I told him I was waiting for the man with a red rose he told me that the man only wanted to kidnap me or something like that. Don't you see? It was as plain as day after Matthew explained it to me. But girls never think of practical things like that. Matthew hadn't even seen the advertisement in the paper and when I told him about losing the ring he said he'd have another one made just like it. Of course, I never shall let Matthew know I didn't lose that ring."
Ruth put on her spectacles and sent a glance down at the algebraic figures. "Say, Ida, you're Victorian all through. But I guess there are some men who like girls like that," she said.

100,000 Died from Bright's Disease and Other Kidney Troubles During the Past Year

Insurance Company Official Says That: "60 Per Cent of These Deaths Could Have Been Avoided"
The increase in fatalities from Bright's disease and other kidney ailments is causing grave concern to Health authorities. A leading Life Insurance Co. states that 60 per cent of these fatalities could have been avoided or postponed had the proper precautionary measures been taken.
Thousands of people who have kidney trouble do not know it. They do not realize the important part the kidneys play in our daily life. If the kidneys fail to act as nature intended, good health is impossible, as the poisons created daily are retained in the system, which cause backaches, constipation and many other distressing ills.
So to avert serious kidney illness, Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy invariably helps these important organs back to normal action. Its healing and soothing action on the kidneys aids them to do their work of elimination of poisons from the system. That is why Warner's has helped thousands of sufferers from backache, weak kidneys and bladder troubles, and why it is so uniformly successful.
Then remember, Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is no experiment of today, but is a most dependable medicine for the kidneys that has been a blessing to thousands of sufferers for the last 40 years. You can get it at all druggists in 50c and $1.00 bottles; or a sample will be mailed free, if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 422, Rochester, N. Y.

VERSE and REVERSE

The Little Toilers
Oh, brief is childhood's life,
A little span—a day!
Yesterday, I was playing in the sand;
Today, my hair is gray.

Little children at the wheel
Deaf with the factory's din,
To open the playgrounds in the world
And see you trooping in!

To see your faces pale and wan
Grow ruddy in the air;
To see you dancing on the green
To pipers piping there.

From every land to call you in
Each toiling girl and boy,
And give you back your own,
Your heritage of joy.

Oh, brief is childhood's life,
A little span—a day;
We should not need their toil,
Oh, let the children play!

—Joy Montgomery Higgins.

THE APPEAL OF THE RACQUET

Since the prime object of the city's parks is the pleasure and satisfaction of its people, we recommend to the park commission the appeal of some scores of tennis-playing young citizens for more courts. It comes as the voice of a division of the city's population not too old to play, and yet too grown-up to be interested in swings and see-saws and other equipment of the playgrounds.

With the exception of the mediocre courts at the West avenue playfield, the city's tennis players are limited to the courts at the normal school, open to the public but, naturally, largely monopolized by the student players.

The tennis-players want courts in all the playfields, and in Myrick and Riverside parks. They have a wholesome, clean, fascinating game that is increasingly popular. As the only mature element of the population that has anything more than an aesthetic use for the parks, they are entitled to consideration.

OUR SILENT GUNS

Instruction camps for the artillery of all state militia are called off, it is learned, because of the dispatch of troops to the Mexican border. Batteries from twenty states which were to have had seasons of training on the range at Camp Robinson are deprived of their chance at field work. They must go into camp, if at all, on the restricted fields reserved for infantry maneuvers by the individual states. There will be no chance for shooting practice.

The war department has given as the reason for changing the elaborate plans the lack of regular army officers to supervise the citizen-gunners. It is a sufficient reason so far as the war department is concerned. They can't manufacture officers on demand. But is it altogether a sufficient reason?

The value of regular artillery officers to supervise militia batteries is unquestioned. That their absence prohibits all benefit from target practice, however, seems debatable. Although perhaps not so compendiously proficient as professional soldiers, militia officers are not such a helpless lot that practice under their direction would be a waste of time. Circumstances which have wrecked the original plans do not warrant neglect to grasp whatever opportunity the situation still affords. There should be in Washington some intelligence of sufficient resource to re-arrange the plans and make the best of conditions.

It is, to say the least, peculiar that an administration committed to the preparedness program, willing to spend millions on unproven projects of militarist tendency, has not troubled itself to find a way to further the training of an existing, organized arm of defense which European experience has proven to be one of the most needed branches of a modern army.

UNCLE SAM AS A "PREDATORY INTEREST"

Recent news from Washington must have been galling to Theodore Rex. One can fancy how pleasantly he read that the foreign relations committee has recommended an expression of "mutual regret" to Colombia for the bigsticker's method of obtaining the Panama canal zone. To one who recalls the proud humility with which Theodore admitted that he did it a few years ago, the thought of the amateur Machiavelli gnashing his noted teeth at this example of the ingratitude of republics is peculiarly touching. Why, one would think he stole it for himself!

IT WORKS IN SOME TOWNS

Here is a town that had a Carnegie library, as pleasant to look at and as empty as a baby's crib in a furniture store window. The woman's club took it in hand. But the club did not go round town asking for contributions of dog-eared books, mostly novels, that the owners had no use for and whose usefulness to anybody else was quite limited. It went to the town council and demanded a tax for the support of the library—and finally got it. We recommend the precedent.—Saturday Evening Post.

And so do we, brother. But can you tell us what's to be done when the axe-to-grind boys get out their dull and disappointed halberds and start in to chip their sanctified initials into everything in sight? Your precedent is launched on a stormy sea, as a sea-sick crew of city navigators hereabout will mournfully attest.

SPENDS $4,000,000 ON ROADS

COLUMBUS, O., May 19.—A third letting of contracts, calling for ninety-two miles of state-aid improvements in twenty-six counties, is announced, and bids will be opened today. A total of 267 miles of entirely new road construction is under way in Ohio, at a total expenditure of nearly $4,000,000.

Diplomacy

"Is a diplomat supposed to tell the truth?"
"Oh, yes. But he is often permitted to take his time about discovering it."—Washington Star.

PLOWING CONTEST

HOLWAY, Wis., May 19.—The third annual plowing contest for Taylor county farmers will be held in this village within the next few days. At the spring meeting the town board voted $25 to buy a calf to be given the winner of the contest.

The Wherefore

"Flubdub's home seems badly neglected."
"Well, his wife is interested in prison reform, better roads, pure politics and clean plays."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Good Old Story

They are telling a story about Representative Gardner and his fervent preparedness campaign.

It seems that a begging tramp approached a group of congressmen, and one of them pointed out Mr. Gardner and said:

"Nothing doing here. Weary, but that gentleman there is very charitable, and if you tackle him you'll be apt to make a haul."

"Thanks, boss," said the tramp huskily, and he hurried to Mr. Gardner: while the others looked on with interest.

The tramp and the statesman were seen to talk earnestly together for some time. Then their hands met—a piece of money plainly passed between them—and the tramp stepped jauntily away.

"Well, did you land him?" a congressman asked the tramp.

"No," the tramp answered cheerfully. "No; I gave him a quarter towards his splendid preparedness campaign."—Washington Star.

Not of a Kind

A congressional committee went to a northwestern state to assist in opening an exposition. There was a parade in the morning, in which all the visiting statesmen rode in automobiles. The local committee brought the cars around to the leading hotel. The scheme was to have two senators or representatives and two local men in each car.

After the vice president and his party had been sent away a local notable, who was acting as a major-domo came into the lobby of the hotel where the statesmen were waiting and bawled:

"Two congressmen and two gentlemen, please!"

A Wise Child's Warning

A little five-year-old McCordsville miss has a stepfather of whom she is very fond. One day the stepfather suffered from a violent headache and his wife went to the kitchen to prepare some domestic remedy. Lillian waited quietly for some time for her mother to return and relieve the sufferer. Losing patience, she went to the kitchen door and energetically called out:

"Mama, if you don't hurry up you're going to have another husband to bury."

The Display of Hats

"Hubby," announced Mrs. Styl-over, "I'm going to town tomorrow to see the new hats."

"You forget," her husband reminded her, "that tomorrow is Sunday. The shops will be closed."

"Who said anything about shops?" she retorted. "I'm going to church."

Quick Aid Is Needed

(By Nilsaah)

LAHORE

Laure gives a striking impression of the great age of civilization in India. In this crowded old Punjab town you see here and there a house twelve or fifteen feet below the street level, with its roof little higher than the first story of surrounding buildings. That house is a remnant of past centuries when the whole city stood many feet lower than it does now. Lahore tops a low mound, and that mound is made up of its own past centuries. Penned in its narrow walls the city has been rebuilt again and again over old ruins until the ground-level slowly lifted.

Laure has been called the heart of India. Here the customs of the northern peoples, at least, have crystallized with time, until the touch of English progress can barely ripple the surface. There is a college for native princes in Lahore, where the sons of rajahs are taught the ways and the learning of the occident, but experience shows that while a few such youths may introduce reforms and changes on their return to their kingdoms, for the most part western culture is but a phase with them, they turn easily back to the old ways and manners of their fathers before them. As the princes so the people, India is too old to change in a day, or a century.

The life of Lahore is never monotonous to anyone who delights in shifting types and peoples. The city is a meeting-place for north and south. Either come wealthy traders from the south to meet the trading caravans that ply the Himalayan passes—the rocky snow-blocked routes from Kashmir and Afghanistan. In the caravan-serais Hindu and Musselman, hill-man and plains-dweller meet and dicker. There are Arabs from over the Arabian sea, and Persians from north-westward. The Persian is always a readily recognizable figure with his rich speech and graceful indolent bearing.

The English in Lahore live apart from the native city, the military folk in the cantonment and the men of the civil service in Donald Town, the European quarter. Their post is no enviable one in the hot weather, with the thermometer haunting the hundred mark night and day, but in winter Lahore has a delightful climate, and the white man leaves his exile with all the sports and social gaieties of the little island half a world away.

"Get out! You are absurd. And you are twice my age."

"Exactly. That gives you a valid excuse for refusing to fight me. That and the fact you have no weapons or knowledge of them. But it leaves my honor untarnished. I can write of it to the Austrian consul my good friend. He will see that it gets, by way of gossip, to what is left of my family in Europe. The Prince of Thurn will say: 'What, that old firebrand, Bernal, still alive and dueling?'"

"Baron, I have seen a great many vain men in my time."

"But none like me. Ah, that is what keeps the old blood singing through my heart—call it what you will! That, and the face of the beautiful world. And the memory of another face or two! Come, now—Doctor—here is our great and last adventure. You will assist me—petal by petal we shall unfold our flower, we shall watch her face turning from the opal mists of childhood to the clear morning of a woman and her love!"

I sat back and watched the old dog in his clear sunset. Then I gasped in some bewilderment: "Well, how do we begin?"

He was arising and waddling in to his dining hall. "I leave the inner part to your own delicacy. But there are some absolute essentials first. She must have poise and manner—I have been diligently correcting much, but in her own home that vulgar Prosper corrupts as fast as I build up. But you now—convey in some fit fashion not only that you are enamored, but also that you disapprove of the way she holds her fork, or perhaps pours the tea. A lover can touch her pride where I—at times I fear she looks on me as a meddling old tutor."

We went into the larger room. The wood saint had the small table marvelously appointed, considering all. The few pieces of silver shone, there was a globe of her all eternal and omnipresent wild hyacinths in the center of the cloth, and their purple gaud hung aslither with water-drops. The baron bowed me to a chair before his rice and crabs, lettuce and beging which was raw sea trout eggs, spice and vinegar, a dish that Allessandro concocted as it was done in his own distant Mindanao.

"It is excellent," cried the baron. "Ah, mademoiselle, you have the touch that would give genius to a crust of bread! The air and the features of the nobility!"

The saint had suddenly uplifted her fork and deliberately jabbed it down through the breast of that wholly illegal duck. Slambang de chance there was in the thrust.

"Mademoiselle Laure," I began. "As to carving, would you allow me—"

She lifted the small duck smartly on her fork and brought it down across the top of my head. The gravy flew in my ears, the dressing down my neck. She jumped up and clapped her hands.

"That for you! I heard every word of it! I will never love a bald-headed doctor!"

Then she ran out. I spluttered a way out of the hot gravy. The baron looked on placidly. He reached to replace the duck from my lap.

"Damnable!" I roared.

"There was a grace to it," he answered. "It reminded me of the way her racial of a great-grand-uncle insulted an English captain in the harbor of Toulon in 1841. Allow me to serve the relish, will you not? We picked for you one of the three radishes in our garden."

CHAPTER VI The Way to Begin

I passed an uncomfortable night. The bed was lumpy and the eerie swish of the Spanish moss across the palm roof, the scamper of chameleons and numberless insects through the dry thatch, together with the diabolic cry of the swamp owls did not invite sleep. We had talked late, the baron relating a variety of astonishing tales. But of the lady of the duck—nothing more. He apparently considered us introduced. She had gone home without seeing us again. Allessandro appeared in the morning and served coffee. I was smoking out on the platform when a johnnyed fellow ran out of the canal and came across our watery front yard. Clell was in it, and called to me a good morning that did my heart good.

"Doctor Dick, it was a short week—this first."

"Of course. This must be Sunday. I remember. How did it go?"

He clambered up to me and laughed ruefully. I caught one of the hands he had tried to conceal. "I'll get broken in pretty soon. The levers and the cable with which we work that crane are a bit rough at first."

The blood was all but starting through his palms. I nearly cried out my sympathy, and his face set to that hard sullenness that had been on it these weeks. "Now, don't, Doctor Dick. You know the compact. And I—I wouldn't have him"—he jerked his head back to the prairie—"know how it—hurt. I wiped the blood off inside my shirt when he or Big Jim came near."

And my boy smiled down at me. Somehow that first day at the man's size job had put a buoyance in him that was good to see. He made a

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

William Fox has discovered a girl whom he considers the most fascinating young woman in America. He has set his heart on making her the greatest young film star in the entire world.

The name of this girl is June Caprice. She is 17 years old. He has taken her right out of a New England school, bought her more dresses and beautiful clothes than any girl except some multi-millionaire's pampered daughter ever had, or expected to have; he has sent her to famous photographers and artists for sittings and in a few weeks she will make her initial screen bow in a Fox picture.

"I will wager," says Mr. Fox, "that the public will admire her and voice their admiration in terms even more extravagant than I have been accused of using since I first found this lovely lady in Boston."

Film Story Casts Doubt on Heredity

"The Transformation" is the title given a two-reel Universal subject being filmed from a scenario by E. J. Clawson. The plot hinges upon an argument of two men as to whether inherent ways can be changed, one contending that ladies and gentlemen are born, not made. An experiment is tried wherein a girl of the slums is secured and tutored. It is found she has all the attributes of a lady, thus proving the contention of one. The other acknowledges defeat by wooing the reformed woman. The cast for this includes Douglas Girard, Rupert Julian, Elsie Jane Wilson and Doc Crane.

Norma Talmadge In "The Dope Fiend"

In "The Dope Fiend" and Tully Marshall will be the co-stars in a forthcoming Triangle picture, entitled "The Dope Fiend." Miss Talmadge will appear in the part of an artist's model. She is a woman of a self-sacrificing nature, who thinks she is deeply in love with the artist. This causes a development of character, and she makes a heroic reformation, thus setting an example for the man she loves. Marshall is the artist who yields to temptation. Marguerite Marsh appears as his loyal and devoted wife. The story runs through five reels.

gesture to the north. "Mary, I wonder what she's thinking?"

"She'd dash about for peroxide, or cold cream in her efficient manner. She'd be—well she'd be beautifully proud."

His face darkened again. "Well, it's all off. She's free, and so am I. When I work out this slave debt to this fellow, I'll pull off somewhere in the world and have a swing for myself."

"She loves you, Clell."

"No." He laughed again. "When a woman won't give up her pretty things and take a chance on facing the hard grind for a few years with a fellow she doesn't love him much. Mary's read too much, and thought too much. She's a dear girl and all that—and a wonder for her type, but I—well, now I'm away. I can see everything clearly."

"But you love her, Clell."

He twisted as if an old pain had him. "I'm coming through, Doctor Dick. I'm through with women. That Williams taught me one thing. I can stand alone and upright and face him. As good a man as he. As strong as he. I hate him—and I want him to feel it. He does feel it—but his hands are tied. When this debt is paid I'll tell him to his face—a good many things; he'll have to be a man to stand for it." He laughed again but bitterly. I tried to gage that monstrosity that had come to the soul of my sunny-hearted lad of a few years ago. Hate? There was no room for it in Clell, but there it stood between the two.

He suddenly gripped my shoulders with his torn palms. "Old Dick, you ought not to be mixed in it. But God bless you! I might have killed him, if you hadn't. The way Mary looked at me. You know I wasn't dishonest. I lost my sister's little fortune trying to start an electrical business up in the state with Fred Hite. It was all for Mary—but she never knew. When I lost and was cornered, Mary didn't seem to sympathize—she merely looked at it with her clear business practicality—and then came Williams and his money."

I nodded. "But if you hadn't been so high-headed. Boy, if you'd have let me pay that miserable two thousand back to him, you'd have been free."

"That isn't the point. He smiled

June Caprice.

Her greatest initial assets are her beauty, her youth and freshness, and her adaptability. Beginning with these a great picture producer is going to lavish a fortune upon her making.

The Kalem Ham Comedy company is filming war stuff at Hollenbeck Park, Los Angeles, where Director Harry Edwards has Lloyd Hamilton walking on the water, following a Hindoo giving him the mystic power. By this means he is able to save the life of Norma Nichols. Bud Duncan figuring in the story as the financier who corners gasoline, which then keeps going up. Others unite with him in this, and in the end they all go up.

When the Clara Kimball Young Film corporation gets busy in July it will film some well known novels. Miss Young thinks novels make better pictures than do stage plays.

The Searchlight

FURNITURE FROM BEER KEGS

Although Kansas has been dry for some years, a large number of old beer kegs still remain within its borders. The instructor in one of the manual training schools has conceived the idea of turning them into high grade furniture constructed by the pupils. Designs are drawn for chairs, settees and other pieces, after the mission or old English patterns. The barrels are carefully taken apart. Most of the staves are straightened by steaming, although some massive looking rocking chairs have rockers made from the best staves. This wood is of high quality and well seasoned. It could not be purchased new for thousands of dollars, and since beer is prohibited, the old barrels are worthless for their original purpose.

—and looked at Mary, as much as to say I wasn't equal to paying him. As to your paying, dear Dick, you're not so rich yourself that you can spend money foolishly."

"I have worked too hard for my money to tolerate any suggestion that I may not spend it foolishly if I choose. You and Mary always scolded me about spending my money." I spoke testily. These young people were always condescending to me—there was Laure and her duck.

Clell was poking about the platform. "How did you get on with the old chap?"

"Well enough. I have had my coffee and so has he. Then his man Friday went off again, and the baron, having called for a jug of his Hungarian wine, rolled over and went to sleep again. He snored just now."

(To be Continued)

"We had a scheme to arrange a checking room so that lady shoppers could check their husbands."

"How did it pan out?"

"Wouldn't work. We didn't know what to do with husbands left over thirty days."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SUSPECT MEXICANS OF POISONING FOOD SOLD AMERICANS

COLUMBUS, N. M., May 19.—Mexicans are suspected of having poisoned food sold United States soldiers in Mexico. Returning truck drivers said today that soldiers with Pershing's army have been taken seriously ill at the front after eating food bought below Casas Grandes and three Mexicans have been arrested pending an analysis of the food.

Ninety prisoners taken in the vicinity of San Antonio, Mexico, after the battle of Ojo Azules have been released, after the American commanders had secured all possible information from them.

ROOSEVELT CARRIES WARNING MESSAGE TO HOME OF FORD

Teddy Denounces Alleged Make Believe Preparedness and Policies of the Administration

HAS PERSONAL RESPECT FOR FORD

Colonel Alleges Support Given Detroiters Is Out-growth of Other Qualities Than Political

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—Colonel Roosevelt carried a message of dire warning to Henry Ford's bailiwick today. Speaking before an audience of representative Detroiters, he lambasted Ford's pacifism, attacked the Wilson administration for "make-believe preparedness" and announced that only a policy of staunch readiness of democratizing through nationalizing and of unity of purpose would keep America in the forefront of nations.

The colonel, accused influential Germans, who reflected the German government's views of approving German-American pacifist plans in the United States, with the idea of keeping America unprepared while maintaining Germany ready. He dubbed the present governmental repre-

ATTORNEYS TO ASK REVERSAL OF BIG MORSE VERDICT

Attorneys Wolfe, Wolfe and Reid will appeal to Judge Edward C. Higbee in circuit court tomorrow morning to reverse certain answers in the special verdict returned by a jury which listened to the suit against the Modern Woodmen of America brought by Alfred Leslie Morse. The questions which the attorneys will ask be reversed would overthrow the $19,800 verdict brought in favor of Morse. The attorneys will follow the formal procedure with request for a new trial.

STEALS SHIRT AND SHERIFF GETS HIM

sentatives at Washington "ninety-six per cent feeble" and sarcastically referred to "note-writing and other intellectual exercises" while scornfully inveighing against the "policy of culpable weakness and timidity," pursued by the administration.

Roosevelt said he had for Ford personally "not merely friendliness but in many respects a very genuine admiration," but he went on to classify him with the Tories of the revolutionary war and the Copperheads of the sixties.

"Mr. Ford's supporters in the primaries," he said, "seemingly come from three classes—the workingmen, who believe that he represents the desire to do justice to them; the pacifists who think that a policy of helplessness in the face of other nations will insure our national safety, and the German-Americans, some of them in an honest and sincere mood of protest, and the others under the influence of that portion of the professional German-Americans, who have permitted their devotion to Germany finally to make them antagonistic to the welfare of the United States.

"It little matters what our ideals may be and what achievements we may hope for, if these ideals and achievements cannot be reduced to action. The events of the past and the events of today, show that national ideals amount to nothing if the nation lacks the power to maintain them against opposition."

The colonel outlined in detail his views on proper preparedness, the administration's course in the German submarine controversy; the necessity for a "competent" man at the head of the navy, a regular army of 250,000 men with universal military training, industrial preparedness and abolition of the hypaen. He declared the establishment of a government armor plant as "a thoroughly mischievous step of endeavoring to cripple a great industry," and advocated strictest regulation instead.

The former president excoriated "pork" methods in the army and navy and rapped Wilson for appointing war, navy and state department heads "for political reasons."

Roosevelt's proposed visit to Ford at the Manufacturers' Highland Park plant was called off, but Ford planned to see the ex-president at his hotel at 3 o'clock. The colonel declared the conference was arranged at the request of the Detroit peace leader.

COWBOYS SLAUGHTER SIXTEEN BANDITS IN A SURPRISE ATTACK

PERSHING'S FIELD HEADQUARTERS NEAR NAMIQUIPA, Mexico, May 18, via Wireless to Columbus, N. M., May 19.—Sixteen Villa bandits were killed and a number captured, when a band of 25 cowboys from the Hearst ranch, surprised the bandits forty miles south of Madera. The bandits were under the command of Alexandro Dominguez and Pedro Costillo. The cowboys (va-queros) were led by Guadalupe Queredo. This band had been raiding Hearst's ranch, stealing cattle and the cowboys were sent out to disperse them. For three days they followed them and overtook the raiders at Rancho Vieje. The bandits were attacked and virtually wiped out. Among the prisoners were Costillo. The captives were taken to Madera and turned over to the Caranza garrison there.

PRESIDENT NEXT WEEK MAY TELL WORLD OF DESIRE TO MEDIATE

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Wilson is expected to notify the world next week that America is ready and waiting to extend a helping hand and to open channels of communications whenever the European belligerents feel that there is the slightest chance of starting an exchange of peace ideas. The notification is expected to come through the medium of a speech to be delivered for the league to enforce peace.

It is stated on the best of authority that the president will not at this time offer to mediate. He will not take any step that can in any way be construed as an attempt to force peace or force open negotiations at a moment that might be inopportune for either group of belligerents. It is expected, however, that he will point out that the successful accomplishment of a league for the enforcement of peace would in itself solve many of the unsettled points at issue which are prolonging the conflict at the present time.

An Ideal Remedy for Nursing Mothers

Compound of Simple Laxative Herbs
Safe for Baby and Mother.

Constipation is a condition that affects the old, young and middle-aged, and most people at one time or another need help in regulating the action of the bowels. Harsh cathartics and purgatives should not be employed to relieve constipation, as their effect is only temporary while they shock the system unnecessarily.

A remedy that can be used with perfect safety for the tiniest babe and that is equally effective for the strongest constitution is found in the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. This is an ideal household remedy and should be in every family medicine chest.

Mrs. F. I. Barsolow, 18 Leslie St., Holyoke, Mass., wrote to Dr. Caldwell: "Syrup Pepsin certainly is fine. I gave it to my baby, Evelyn, and also took it myself. It is the only medicine I have been able to take without affecting Baby in the nursing. I have used it for all four children and it is fine; they like it and ask for it."

A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

STATE EMPLOYE IN DASH AFTER AUTO SETS NEW RECORD

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—William H. Comerford, formerly of Superior, now chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state, decided to surprise his wife the other day, on the occasion of their tin wedding anniversary, by adding a brand new shiny flivver to the family menage. The machine was duly purchased and delivered.

Mrs. Comerford happened to see the men leave the car and, thinking that it was the work of the car thieves that have been particularly active in Madison of late, notified the police. The officers arrived in time and took the car to the station.

To settle the question as to who was the rightful owner of the car the police telephoned the office of the secretary of state, but in asking for the man who held the number of the car got their numbers mixed. Alex Cobhan after examining the files found that the corresponding number was held by a man at Beloit. In the meantime "Bill" arrived home fully expecting a joyous reception. Instead he was told of the curious events of the morning. The details of the rest of the story are somewhat obscure, but it is said that William H. Comerford has the record in Madison for making a dash through space corresponding to the distance between the apartments where he lives and the police station.

HUGE AIR CRUISERS TO CARRY CANNON

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, May 2.—(By mail.)—Monster French air cruisers—each mounting one of the famous "soixante-quinze" guns so destructive at Verdun—will be in action against Germany's air forces before many weeks.

Successful experiments with this new terror of the air have just been completed. In all probability Sergeant Aviator Treille Grandseigne, hero of several recent air exploits, will pilot the first of the new battle planes. He has been directing the experiments in which huge aeroplanes have carried the "75's" in rehearsal of air battles.

Although but 25 years of age Grandseigne has won for himself a most enviable record as a pilot of the first cannon-mounted aeroplanes, mounting small guns firing shells much smaller than those of the redoubtable "75's".

Grandseigne is the aviator who was cited in the order of the day for dropping 18 incendiary bombs on a Zeppelin off Zeebrugge on the night of April 25. He also carries the distinction of being the first pilot of one of the new cannon carrying aeroplanes to battle an enemy warship. Departing from Dunkirk about 9:30 on the night of April 14, Grandseigne was greeted with volleys of shrapnel from German batteries at Nieupoort, Middlekerke and other Belgian coast towns. He continued on to Ostend, where he opened fire on two German warships just leaving the harbor for Zeebrugge. Dropping to within a few hundred feet of the water Grandseigne allowed his gunner to discharge his full ammunition supply of sixteen shells at one of the vessels and then made his escape. The warship did not sink, but apparently was badly damaged.

SUPREMACY COURT IN '98 DECLARED CITY HANDS WERE TIED

It is insisted that the city of La Crosse built and maintained the road in question without any charter or legislative authority from the legislature of this state. It is not claimed that the charter gives the city any authority or power in the premises. The only power granted by the legislature is such as is contained in ch. 37, laws of 1889. Dillon on Municipal Corporations (4th ed.) 89, says: "It is a general and undisputed proposition of law that a municipal corporation possesses and can exercise the following powers, and no others: First, those granted in express words; second, those necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted; third, those essential to the declared objects and purposes of the corporation—not simply convenient but indispensable." This declaration of the law meets with express approval in Trester v. Sheboygan, 87 Wis. 496. It is also a rule of law as universal in its application that the agents, officers, or even the city council, of a municipal corporation cannot bind the corporation by the assumption of powers beyond those granted by the sovereign authority, except within the limitations above stated. It would seem like a truism to state that the legislature cannot grant authority to a municipal corporation to assume obligations or to charge itself with permanent duties to be performed outside of the state limits.

Sec. 1, art. IX, Const. Wis., declares that "the state shall have concurrent jurisdiction on all rivers and lakes bordering on this state, so far as such rivers or lakes shall form a common boundary to the state, or any other state or territory now or hereafter to be formed and to be bounded by the same." The boundary line between this state and Minnesota is the main channel of the Mississippi river. Const. art. II, sec. 1. In the exercise of its "concurrent jurisdiction" over the Mississippi river, this state saw fit, by ch. 37 before mentioned, to grant to the city of La Crosse the right to construct a bridge across the river to some point in Minnesota with all necessary approaches thereto. Admitting that this authority was properly conferred, for the purposes of this suit, the act referred to did not and could not grant the right to the city to build and maintain a highway two and one-half miles long, on the bottom lands of the river in Minnesota. There is therefore nothing in the charter of the defendant city, or in ch. 37, giving it authority to keep up, or making it its duty to maintain, the highway upon which the plaintiff was injured.

The question, then, recurs, Had the city the authority or right to accept the privilege granted it by the state of Minnesota? We have been referred to no case, and after careful search we are unable to find one, in which this precise question has been determined. Such a decision may be in the books, but the industry of both counsel and court has been unavailing to find it. While it may be admitted that the maintenance of this bridge and highway may be of material advantage to the city, and may add largely to the commerce of its inhabitants, it cannot be said to be of such paramount importance as to require any stretch of legal principles to sustain that right. It is true that municipal corporations are often granted proprietary or private rights, which they may exercise under the same perils and obligations as a private person; but those rights can only come from the source that gave it corporate existence. By the acceptance and exercise of these rights, the corporation assumes the same obligations and responsibilities, and the same duty to so exercise them as not to invade the rights of others, as fall upon private persons. The distinction between the rights which the corporation possesses in its governmental or public character, and those which fall to it in its proprietary or private character, originated in the courts, to promote justice, and has been frequently applied to escape technical difficulties, in order to hold such corporations liable to private actions. 1 Dillon, Mun. Corp. 67.

The general doctrine is clear that such corporations cannot usually exercise their powers beyond their own limits. The right to exercise extra-territorial powers can only arise by express grant of authority, as indicated by Mayor v. Moran, 44 Mich. 602, or by necessary implication from other powers granted, as is pointed out in Caldwell v. Tucker, 56 Mich. 474. And the powers so exercised must be directly within the range of corporate purposes. Considerations of local policy, no doubt, induced the legislature to grant the city of La Crosse the right to build the bridge mentioned. The movers in this enterprise evidently appreciated the serious difficulties attending the erection and management of expensive public works situated partly in this state and partly in Minnesota. It was to remove, in some degree, these difficulties, that the legislation referred to was obtained from the state of Minnesota. The corporation of La Crosse exists only by the grace of the legislative grant of this state. As before suggested, it possesses no power and can assume no obligations except such as may come from the original source. To permit it to accept rights, and to assume duties, beyond the power of its creator to enforce or to regulate, would be an innovation we are not prepared to sanction. From the very necessities of the situation, it would have no power to regulate or protect its erections in a foreign jurisdiction. The noted case of Bailey v. New York, 2 Hill, 531, and New York v. Bailey, 2 Denio, 433 illustrates some of the complications that might arise in that regard. To permit the city, no matter how desirable it may be, to expend its money, and to obtain rights and privileges, beyond its own limits, and beyond the limits over which its cre-

MAY IMPRESS "400" OF LAKE FOREST INTO ORPET JURY

COURTROOM, WAUKEGAN, ILL., May 19.—The exclusive society colony at Lake Forest, Ill., will be drawn upon for the next venire necessary to fill the jury box in the trial of William H. Orpet for Marian Lambert's murder, Sheriff Griffen said today.

Convinced that circumstantial evidence does not "grow on a farm,"

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—"I did not sell William Orpet an empty two-ounce phial the day before he went to Lake Forest. I said that I did in a former statement but that was not true. I will not explain why I made the former statement."

This was the statement of Charles W. Hasinger, former Madison drug clerk, today from his home at Milton Junction.

Griffen today announced that his practice of summoning men from agricultural communities would end. Few of the farmers so far summoned have accepted circumstantial evidence as ground for conviction.

The Lake Forest society colony includes members of the McCormick, Kuppenheimer, Rosenwald, Chatfield-Taylor and others of Chicago's "400," who have suburban homes there.

When the trial entered its fifth day today, there were three men in the jury box who may be held there permanently. One is Len Barthell, who has been there three days. The others are C. W. Kohl and L. J. Slocum.

Orpet's defense, it was learned today has what it claims to be conclusive evidence that Marian Lambert killed herself, perhaps to break the heart of young Orpet, who had cast her aside.

In an effort to expedite the work of selecting a jury Judge Charles Donnelly today abolished the strict literary test which attorneys for both sides have demanded veniremen pass before they are even tentatively accepted.

Deny Orpet Bought Vial

It was learned that Orpet's counsel will deny unqualifiedly that the youth purchased an empty two ounce bottle from Charles Hasinger, Madison druggist, before his last voluntary visit to Lake Forest.

It is understood that L. P. Hanna, one of the boy's lawyers, has a statement from Hasinger, the clerk, regarding the original one he made to detectives for the state, and denying without reserve the sale of the bottle. In the first he admitted selling Orpet the phial twenty-four hours before the accused youth went to the fatal meeting with the girl.

PLANS ARE FORMED FOR DECORATION DAY CEREMONIES

Tentative plans for Memorial Day celebrations in La Crosse were made at a meeting of members of the G. A. R. Sons of Veterans and Spanish-American war veterans at a court house last night.

Committee chairmen elected were John Ward, H. J. Beckwith, George Scott, H. J. Riley and J. M. Holley.

Attorney James Thompson is to deliver the annual Decoration Day address at the old soldiers' lot at Oak Grove cemetery, following the usual parade of military organizations, including veterans of the civil war and local militia companies. The La Crosse Boy Scout organization, with their life and drum corps, has offered to take part in the celebrations. Company M. W. N. G. will furnish the bugler and the firing squad at the cemetery.

Extensive preparations are being made by the John Flynn Post, G. A. R., for ceremonies at the Campbell cemetery and services at Black river in commemoration of the sailor dead. Mayor Bentley is to deliver an address at the Campbell burying ground, and the North Side military band and school children are to take part in a parade which will culminate at Black river, where flowers will be cast upon the stream by members of the Women's Relief corps.

JUST note today, the many "dressed up" people are wearing the latest correctly styled footwear. Of course, the gown, suit, hat, etc., must possess style, but the most costly outfit may be spoiled by ill-fitting or non-authoritative styled shoes.

We are showing the newest creations first, as we receive new shoes and slippers each day.

Bring your feet upstairs. You save the difference of high expense.

MORE THAN SINGLE BRIDGE EMPOWERED BY ACT OF 1899

Although he has not yet found enough of the records of the beginnings of the wagon bridge and the La Crosse road to make his statement definite, Mayor Bentley has morning declared that in his opinion the legal right of the city of La Crosse to maintain the bridges of the La Crosse pike can be established. The mayor worked until late last night, plowing through hundreds of documents from the city clerk's vault. Today he had discovered copies of the original act of congress authorizing the bridge and the charter granted by the state. He is now searching for a copy of the legislative enactment by the state of Minnesota empowering the city to build the bridge and approaches.

Authority is given in both the federal act and the state charter. Mr. Bentley said, to erect and maintain a bridge "or bridges", from Mount Vernon street to some point in Houston county, Minnesota. "Or bridges" is interpreted by the mayor to be unquestionable indication that the authority which empowered the city to build the bridge took cognizance of the fact that bridges over other branches of the river would necessarily be part of the system.

Express stipulation is made in the government act, dated in 1889, the mayor said this morning, that the city shall maintain the road. The act declares the city shall keep the road open for the United States mails, that it shall be known as a post road, and shall at any time be in shape for use by troops of the United States. Incidentally, it provides that the tolls shall not be excessive.

If the Minnesota enactment shall also be found to refer to a "bridge or bridges" as do the state and federal enactments, Mayor Bentley believes his case will be in shape to go ahead. Today he invited A. L. Goetzman, George W. Burton and Frank Winter, the board of trade committee appointed to deal with the bridge matter, into conference to go over the situation. The mayor planned to ask their aid in arriving at a legal way to maintain the bridges on the pike.

GERMAN INFANTRY OCCUPIES SMALL FRENCH POSITION

PARIS, May 19.—In an infantry attack, led by two new divisions, the Germans last night occupied a small French work, south of Hill 287, but otherwise were repulsed in an attempt to throw the French out of Avocourt wood, northwest of Verdun, the war office announced today.

The infantry attack was preceded by the heaviest artillery preparation, German guns raking the French front for several hours with terrific curtain fire. The enemy then rushed forward against both the Avocourt wood positions and French works west of Hill 304.

The French retained the German fort captured yesterday in this region.

In the Argonne a German attempt to penetrate a small French salient near St. Hubert, was stopped by French fire.

WILSON ASKS STAY FOR CITIZEN HELD IN IRISH REVOLT

The Dublin consul's report in the case of Lynch cast some doubt on the status of the case.

The following paraphrase of the message was given out at the state department today:

"The consul at Dublin reports that Jeremiah C. Lynch was tried by a field court martial (yesterday) for participation in the recent Irish rebellion * * * (word lost in transmission) * * * will happen Friday morning. Will advise you further when sentence is known."

The London message was filed yesterday afternoon and arrived during the night, passing President Wilson's message which sought a stay of execution.

There was no way of knowing what the omitted word was.

WILLIAM SCHWALBE DIES AT HOSPITAL

William Schwalbe, aged 43, 917 Green Bay street, died at a local hospital at 4:45 Thursday afternoon following an illness of over a year. Death was caused by a complication of diseases.

His widow, five sons and one daughter survive. They are Dorothy Schwalbe and Walter, William, Alfred, Harry and George Schwalbe, all residents of La Crosse. One brother, Frank Schwalbe, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Schubert and Mrs. John Weiss, also residents of La Crosse. Mrs. Lawrence Schendt, Milwaukee, a sister, also survives.

GENTLE RUBBING ALWAYS HELPS VARICOSE VEINS

Says Swollen Veins are Dangerous and Ofttimes Burst Which Causes Much Suffering.

Rubbing the swollen veins nightly for about two minutes with a gentle upward stroke brings benefit to sufferers and is mighty good advice, says an authority.

After the rubbing, which should always be toward the heart, because the blood in the veins flows that way, apply Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) with brush or hand.

Try this simple home treatment for a few days and improvement will be noticed, then continue until veins are reduced to normal. It is very concentrated and penetrating and can be obtained at any modern drug store. It is so powerful that it also reduces Gout and Wens. Druggists have Emerald Oil in the original bottle for 50 cents and the demand is astonishing.

STRONG NEUTRAL COULD BRING PEACE BERLIN SENTIMENT

ed, although each of the belligerents may attempt a summer offensive. The Dutch think it is America's duty to act now and that the time is ripe to bring the belligerents together. One diplomat said that if the peace talk now in circulation continues for a few months, the belligerents will learn enough of what each side wants to bring them together in a peace agreement by October.

The general impression prevails in Holland that Premier Asquith and Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg might make peace, but that the Kitchen-Northcliffe group in England, with President Poincare of France, are anxious to continue the war. Hollanders declare that one reason England does not want peace now is because she believes that German submarines cannot behave and that as long as the possibility of the United States breaking off relations with Germany exists, England would be foolish to make peace. The Dutch, however, regard this as only an excuse set up by that group in England which wants a continuation of the war.

The Hollanders are outspoken in their regard for America, considering the United States their best friends.

Viviani Casts Gloom

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

PETROGRAD, May 19.—"The allies stand solid for a finish fight. They intend to break Germany's heavy sword. They owe this to unborn generations."

This was the answer made to the United Press to talk from Berlin by Rene Viviani, former French prime minister and now minister of justice in the French cabinet. Viviani has been making extensive visits to England and Russia. At the French embassy he gave the second interview he has granted since the war began, the previous interview having been given the United Press at Paris during his premiership.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 oz.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

Miss Bertie L. asks: "What remedy can you recommend to reduce obesity safely? I want to reduce about thirty pounds."

Answer: I rely on five-grain arbolone tablets as being the most effective and convenient treatment to reduce abnormal fat. Druggists supply this in sealed tubes with complete directions. After the first few days a pound a day is not too much reduction.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 97 pounds to about 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you as it does for thousands of others. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclease tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

John C. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and rest seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent and unable to perform the duties which were assumed earlier in life, while by ambition for work and pleasure is slowly going."

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nerve medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain cadonene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying.

SCHOLARSHIP LISTS ARE OPENED FOR OUTSIDE STUDENTS

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—Non-resident students have until June 6 to file applications for non-resident scholarships at the university under a law passed by the last legislature increasing the tuition fee. Seventy-five "legislative scholarships" for non-resident students will be granted next year to 5 per cent of the non-resident students in the university. The higher tuition law, which goes into effect next September, makes provision for these scholarships. There are 1,482 non-resident students at the university. The statute requires that these exemptions be made "upon the basis of merit to be shown by suitable tests, examinations or scholastic records and continued high standards of scholastic attainments." The bill was fathered in the last legislature by Assemblyman George P. Hambrecht of Grand Rapids.

PAIR AND "OTHER MAN" ARE SENT TO STATE PRISON

A woman and her husband—and "the other man" are on their way to state's prison today. The man and his wife are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fema. The "other man" is Frank Mitchell, who will soon begin his second term in Waupun for an offense for which he recently served a year. The trio was sentenced in county court yesterday to one year each.

Fema is familiar to the court as one who used to hide his savings in old rubbish barrels and under sidewalks. At one time he was arrested and assessed a fine. He could not pay it until a patrolman escorted him to the sidewalk near Gund's brewery, where Fema reached down and extracted a big roll of bills from under the cement. At another time he lost a big sum which he had placed in an old barrel at the Farmers' Co-operative Packing plant. The barrel was carted away while Fema was not around.

Mitchell has been the third side of the Fema family triangle for a number of years, it was said. He was sent to Waupun for a year—and even there he could not forget. Mrs. Fema is past 55 and has a large family, which is being cared for by D. C. Dewey, of the La Crosse Rescue mission.

HUGHES COULDN'T KEEP OUT OF OBREGON PRIMARY

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—A three-cornered race between Senator Cummins, Theodore E. Burton and Justice Hughes for the republican nomination for president featured Oregon's presidential preference primary today. Early reports indicated a large vote.

Most of the candidates for delegates to the republican and democratic national conventions have agreed to abide by today's preferential vote. Ten delegates to each convention will go from Oregon.

Woodrow Wilson is the only democratic candidate for president. Vice President Marshall and Governor Majors of Missouri oppose each other for the democratic vice presidential nomination.

Cummins and Burton have been active candidates. Charles E. Hughes is a candidate against his own wishes. He wrote to Secretary of State Olcott asking that his name be left off the ballot. Despite his request, Hughes' supporters filed a petition signed by 1,200 voters demanding that his name be put on the ballot. Olcott declined to remove his name. Hughes telegraphed again that he did not want his name on the ballot. But there it is.

The Oregon supreme court decided that Hughes has nothing to say about it. If enough people want him in the White House, he must run. A writ of mandamus was issued commanding Olcott to print Hughes' name. A strong element among Oregon republicans favors Hughes.

Yes, there was a fourth republican presidential candidate. His name is Charles E. Lockwood and he styled himself, on the ballot, "Oregon's favorite son." He lives in Portland. He withdrew in favor of Hughes.

James Inman of Looking Glass, Ore., abandoned his usual custom of filing for the republican presidential nomination.

C. N. McArthur (incumbent) E. V. Littlefield, and A. W. Lafferty, (representative) are opponents for the republican nomination for representative in congress from the Third district. Representatives W. C. Hawley and N. J. Sinnott from the First and Second districts have no opponents.

TWO MOTHERS TELL

How Their Sickly Children Were Made Strong and Well

"For six years our little girl suffered from a bronchial trouble, she had no appetite, could not sleep and was so nervous we had to keep her out of school. The doctors said nothing but a change of climate would help her. We were discouraged, when one day a friend asked us to try Vinol, and after taking six bottles she does not look like the same child. She has a fine appetite, is lively, healthy and well, and Vinol, did it all. Mrs. F. E. Hufford, Iola, Kas.

Another child made strong:—"The measles left my little girl thin and delicate, and the doctor's medicine did not seem to build her up. I read about Vinol and got a bottle, and her improvement was rapid, her strength returned and she is now as well as ever." Mrs. E. Linot, Pittsburg, Pa.

We ask every La Crosse mother of a frail, sickly, ailing child to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it does not restore her child's normal health.

Preparedness!

To combat disease, to meet any emergency—that's the meaning of the word to the individual. Why wait? If you allow health to fail and the vitality to become low, it is a long tedious job to rebuild the constitution up to its normal standard after disease or overwork has sapped your strength and wasted the tissues. Be prepared! Be sure the family medicine chest contains

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Then you'll have for sudden illness or indispositions, day or night an absolutely pure tonic-stimulant. A tablespoonful in water or milk, before meals and on retiring promotes health. For by the tonic and stimulating effects of Duffy's on the little digestive glands along the mucous surfaces of the stomach, it assists that organ to obtain from the food all its nourishing properties, and to properly digest and assimilate the same. Thus the system is furnished with necessary strength and vigor to resist and offset disease and to re-establish a sound condition. Since the foundation of all "Preparedness" rests on individual health, it behooves you to

Baby Welfare Hints No. 4.—Sleeping

A new-born baby will sleep most of the time, but as he grows older he will sleep less and less, until when he is about a year old he will usually sleep about two-thirds of the time. Regularity in sleeping hours is as important as regularity in feeding.

The baby will usually awaken in the morning and need the first feeding at about six o'clock. Then he should be fed regularly during the daytime. When the baby is aroused at feeding time, he should be very gently awakened.

When the baby is a few months old he will need a forenoon nap after he is bathed and fed, and also an afternoon nap. By the time he is a year old he will usually need only the forenoon nap, which should be continued until he is at least two or three years old. Unless the weather is severe the baby may have his nap out-of-doors, in a sheltered place.

The baby should be prepared for the night and quietly settled about 6 p. m. He should be kept particularly quiet for about an hour before being put to bed, as excitement at this time interferes with a baby's sleep. He should be put into his crib without being rocked or walked to sleep. If this is done he will soon acquire regular habits of sleeping.

RUSHFORD BOY SCOUT CLUB IS ORGANIZED NOW

Rev. J. C. Bantley's Efforts in Aiding Boys of Village Results in Club of Twelve Members

FROST COME ON TWO NIGHTS

Severe Frosts Kill the Fruit Tree Blossoms and All Small Garden Stuff in Vicinity

RUSHFORD, Minn., May 19.—(Special.)—Rev. J. C. Bantley, of the Rushford Presbyterian church, has just completed the organization of a Boy Scout club of twelve members. The movement has long been needed here, since after the close of the Athletic club's activities, the boys have nothing with which to make their spare time profitable and pleasant.

All who wish to join the work may do so, providing they are willing to obey rules, are at least twelve years of age and have the consent of their parents to take up the work. The council which has in hand the overseeing of the organization are three of our prominent business men: W. W. Webster, D. S. Prinzing and J. G. Robertson.

At some date in the near future, the boys and their leader are hoping to give a little exhibition and drill in public, the proceeds of which will go towards purchasing suits, badges and other equipment.

May Frost Damages

Very severe frosts struck this locality last Tuesday and Wednesday nights, small garden truck being frozen stiff where not protected. As the plum and apple trees were in full bloom with fruit-gems fully exposed, it is feared that considerable damage has been done. Farmers are well-nigh discouraged over the prospect of the corn crop, since much of that planted has rotted in the ground and must be re-planted. The great scarcity of seed-corn in the beginning will be a severe setback, should many acres have to be again planted. Continued cold rains have delayed much farm work in some localities, the ground being too wet.

White Way Planned

Rushford is seriously considering building a White Way. A number of citizens and business-men speak very favorably of the scheme and with enough money and energy to put through the idea, a leader very likely will be found to take the matter in hand and aid in still further awakening interest.

Local and Personal

A party of nine ladies were self-invited guests at the C. K. Osgard home last Wednesday afternoon, May 17th and "killed two birds with one stone" by aiding Mrs. Osgard in celebrating her birthday and also celebrating Norwegian Independence Day at the same time. A pair of handsome vases were brought as a gift to the hostess. Later in the day and before the ladies opened the lunch baskets which they had brought, Dr. Osgard invited in several gentlemen to aid in the merry-making.

The force of instructors of the Lanesboro schools were guests of the William Robertson home on Stevens avenue, last Sunday, coming down by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Simonds, the latter being here to keep the home open for Miss Beth Robertson, her sister, the parents being in Canada.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a Food sale on the afternoon of Saturday, May 27th. Home-made bread, cake, etc., will be on sale. The affairs will probably take place at the large main room of the State bank, this to be decided later.

Howard Moore, mother and sister were Chicago visitors recently; going down to consult with physicians there in regard to Mr. Moore's health, which has been poor of late. The party returned after a day's stay in the Windy City, since the physicians believed that the medical treatment the gentleman was receiving here was the best which could be given him. Mr. Moore is improving in health, we are glad to state.

A splendid double program was given at the city park on May Day and Minnesota Day, the pupils of the city schools taking part. A May Queen, heralds, pages and courtiers, games, military drill, address by Superintendent Reinartson, reading of the poem, "Minnesota"; music by Rushford's Military band and May Pole dances made up the program. The singing of "America" by all making the last number.

THORKELSON COY IN REGARD TO RAIL BOARD SEAT

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—Every effort is being made by Governor Philipp to induce H. J. Thorkelson, business manager of the university, to take a place on the Wisconsin railroad commission in place of Halford Erickson, resigned. Erickson left the commission May 1. The governor held another conference with Mr. Thorkelson Wednesday afternoon. No information was given out after the interview. It is said that Professor Thorkelson is reluctant about accepting the position, for the present unexpired term is only eight months.

MARRIES OWN NAME

CHICAGO, May 19.—Until Marie Kozlowski met Victor Kozlowski she was afraid she would be unable to fulfill her father's desire to marry a man of her own name. The wedding will take place soon.

MISS OTTERNESS WEDS HOUSTON MAN

Samuel Wilson Becomes Husband of Blackhammer Girl at Home of the Bride Tuesday

HOUSTON, Minn., May 19.—(Special.)—Samuel Wilson, son of Peter Wilson of this village, was united in marriage of Miss Otterness of Blackhammer Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride Rev. Frost of the Blackhammer church officiating.

Local and Personal

Henry Hawkins and wife of Money Creek spent Monday in La Crosse and visited with Clarence Hawkins who has been confined at a hospital there for six weeks.

Jack Sommers of Money Creek, was a business caller here Wednesday.

Miss Gena Wilson of Rushford came down Tuesday to attend the noon. The St. Peter's Norwegian son.

Melvin Sortungstad returned home from Madoc, S. D., Saturday, where he was in the jewelry business.

Miss Tilda Lewis, who has been a clerk at the K. B. Grady department store, has resigned and returned to her home in Badger Valley.

Roy Anderson of Badger Valley was a business caller Monday.

J. Potter of Caledonia was a business caller Wednesday.

Art Loken has rented the Vathing house in Prospect Park.

Mrs. Anton Forsyth will entertain the Money Creek Ladies' aid at her home in Money Creek Friday afternoon. The St. Peter's Norwegian Lutheran Sunday school celebrated the 17th of May. Fourteen cars waited at the park at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to take the children and their teachers for a ride to Money Creek Village. On their return they were taken to the church parlors where supper was served.

Ralph Anderson and Ernest Nelson left Wednesday for Minneapolis, where they will attend the Northern Baptist convention.

Miss Evelyn Knutson of Yucatan was a Houston caller Thursday.

Miss Alma Lee, who visited with her sister, Mrs. Wheaton of Caledonia the past week, has returned home.

FLASH FIRES FILMS DAMAGE IS GREAT

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—A flash of fire from a film cleaning machine in the Universal and Blue-beard exchanges started a fire late yesterday afternoon that gutted the five-story building. And destroyed films said to be valued at from $100,000 to $500,000. Thirty girls employed in the two exchanges and by the Metro Film company which occupied the third floor of the building narrowly escaped death.

An Everyday Cake

Here is a simple and inexpensive cake that can be varied in many ways with different frostings and icings. It looks a little nicer baked in a tube pan, but will be equally as good baked in a square loaf.

K C Gold Cake

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar; yolks of 4 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup flour, less 2 level tablespoonsful; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk; grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times; cream butter and sugar, beat yolks of eggs, add these to creamed mixture, and lastly add the moisture and flour alternately, beating batter until smooth. Gold Cake can only be made successfully by beating yolks of eggs, very, very creamy and light lemon colored, using a rotary beater. The rotary beater is the only beater that will do justice to the yolks of eggs. The beating kills all egg taste and improves the texture of the cake.

Cocoanut Frosting

Beat the whites of 2 eggs dry; gradually beat in half a cup of sifted confectioner's sugar and continue the beating until the frosting is smooth, thick and glossy; then beat in grated cocoanut, fresh or prepared, and spread upon the cake. This frosting is made thick by beating rather than by sugar.

Save this recipe. You will want to use it frequently. Or better, send us the colored certificate packed in each 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder and we will mail you "The Cook's Book" containing this and 39 other baking recipes equally good—all by Mrs. Hill. Jacques Mig. Co., Chicago.

CITY ATTORNEYS TO DISCUSS JOINT SUIT

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—A meeting will be held, probably at Milwaukee early next week, of the city attorneys of Ashland, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Green Bay and Superior to discuss the terminal tax proposition. This arrangement was made by Charles H. Crowther here today, who has been retained in the suits. State Treasurer Henry Johnson and Secretary of State Donald have refused to make payments under the new terminal law until it has been passed upon by the courts.

BAPTISTS FAVOR BETTER EDUCATION IN CHURCH TENETS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 19.—Approving a budget calling for the expenditure of $14,188,000 for colleges and schools, the delegates at the Northern Baptist conference yesterday passed resolutions urging wider educational activities by the church. The resolutions call for $6,000,000 to be raised in the next five years. Professor E. D. Burton of the University of Chicago, in advocating the extension of educational activities declared, "The Baptists have let other denominations bring up their children and wondered why they weren't good Baptists."

BLIND WORK HERE EXHIBIT PLACED

To acquaint the people of the state with what the blind can accomplish and to create a market for the articles made by the blind women of Wisconsin, was declared by Miss M. Ada Turner, field worker of the School for the Blind at Janesville, to be the purpose of the exhibition and sale of the work of the blind women of the state. The exhibition was placed in the second floor assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. and was open to the public at nine o'clock this morning and will continue throughout all of today and Saturday. The exhibit will also be open this evening. Members of the Twentieth Century club are co-operating with Miss Turner.

CAPTURE ESCAPED INMATE

HURLEY, Wis., May 19.—Joseph Horn was captured here Wednesday night after running amuck at the state tuberculosis hospital at Tomahawk lake and beating Fred Wright, superintendent of the hospital, and his wife. Horn was sentenced to serve fourteen years in the penitentiary at Waupun on the charge of manslaughter and was eligible for parole next week after serving eight years of the term. Three years ago, it is charged, he attacked Mrs. Wright and when her husband interfered he escaped after a hard fight.

BOILS AND PIMPLES DANGEROUS; S. S. S. YOUR REMEDY

Standard for Fifty Years.

Modern science has proven that boils and carbuncles, pimples and unsightly skin blotches are the danger signals of diseased blood. Scaly skin and itching, of Eczema, Scrofula, rashes—all skin diseases are aggravated by bad blood. It's the infected blood that's dangerous. Don't wait for the boils. If you have pimples and blotches, take instant action. Pimples tell you that your blood is filled with impurities. You must wash out your blood, strengthen and stimulate it to healthy action with Nature's own blood purifier, S. S. S. It is the standard blood purifier of the world. Don't use any drugs, don't use ointments and salves. S. S. S. reaches the blood, drives out the impurities. It makes healthy perspiration—the poison is literally sweated out through the skin. Boils, blotches, Eczema and the Scrofula indications disappear. It does what salves and lotions can never do—it goes to the very root of the trouble by reaching the blood. Your skin becomes clear and you soon feel the vigor of the return of perfect health. S. S. S. is purely vegetable. You can get it at any drugstore, but you must take S. S. S. Let us tell you about blood diseases. Write for book of facts, "What the Mirror Tells." If yours is a long-standing case, write for expert advice to Swift Specialties Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THANKS STUDENTS FOR SUPPORT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 19.—President Wilson in a personal letter to Rinehart J. Swenson, student of the University of Minnesota, today thanks the students for the confidence they expressed in nominating him as candidate for the presidency to succeed himself. Swenson is chairman of the nomination committee. Mr. Wilson won the nomination at a mock political convention at which more than 1,200 students of all parties were present.

If we consider how few things are worthy of anger, we shall wonder how any but fools can be wroth.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to City Book and Drug Store, 500 Main St., or Columbian Pharmacy, 123 So. Fourth St., and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body. It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

RESIDENCE STREET OF GALESVILLE TO BE IMPROVED SOON

A. H. Gilbert Given Contract for Building Boulevard and Curbing Along Ridge Street

GALESVILLE, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—Galesville is to have a line of boulevard, curb and gutter extending from the school house to the Odell corner of the principal residence street of the town. At the last meeting of the city council, bids were received for the work, and A. H. Gilbert received the contract for forty cents per running foot.

Foot Amputated
Parley Stoner, who has been in a La Crosse hospital for the past two weeks, suffering from a diseased foot which was the outcome of rheumatism, has been obliged to have that member amputated. COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark luxuriant, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

of Galesville, has been using crutches and a cane for the past week, the result of an injury to his knee.

Mrs. O. N. Sagen is visiting relatives in Northfield.
Abe Vier of Dakota, Minn., is visiting at the home of Joe Vier in the city.

Miss Winifred Edsall was in La Crosse last week, and delivered three addresses before church congregations.

Mrs. J. A. Berg is visiting her daughter, Miss Mildred, in Northfield, Minn., a student of St. Olaf's college.

Dr. Edison Rhodes took charge of the practice of Dr. J. J. Powell during a recent absence of the latter.

Miss Edith Bartlett has purchased the Davis house on the "Point," recently occupied by the Andrew Boe family, and will take possession of the same when improvements are made.

Mrs. Instenes of Blair is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dale.

ZANFRETTE FAMILY WITH HOWE'S GREAT LONDON SHOWS

There are many novel acts with the Great London Shows which are certain to be well received in every city lucky enough to secure a visit from the consolidated enterprises. There are acts which were never seen in America until this show opened its season of 1916 for the reason that there was no amusement enterprise great enough to afford the large salaries which the artists demand and no institution with sufficient prestige to attract the attention of such celebrated performers. The Zanfretta Family of acrobats, for instance, perform feats which have never been seen in other shows. The Great London Circus will exhibit it in La Crosse, May 27.

"TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET-AH!

"Tiz" is grand for aching, swollen, tender, calloused feet or corns.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz." "Tiz" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "Tiz" cures your foot trouble, so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions. Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "Tiz." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it.

L. D. PEET, Third and Main Streets

There are always enough advisers except when they are wanted.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

FERRYVILLE TOT KILLED IN FALL FROM HAY MOW

Daughter of Mrs. Allen Rutter Follows Grandfather to Barn and Loses Footing in Hay

FERRYVILLE, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—While playing in the hay mow of her grandfather's barn Wednesday night, the three-year-old granddaughter of F. E. Rutter, residing four miles northeast of Ferryville, lost her footing in the slippery hay and fell to the floor far below. Concussion of the brain was caused, and the child never regained consciousness.

The little girl had followed her grandfather on his evening chores and when he went to the barn, he thought she was playing in the yard. She was fascinated by the high hay mow, and climbed up the barn ladder. Her grandfather heard her glad cry as she bounced up and down on the hay. A moment later she fell and he picked her up unconscious. The child was the daughter of Mrs. Allen Rutter.

Her father was killed by a gun shot wound while hunting coon about two and a half years ago.

PACKER SCOFFS AT REPORT IRON WAS IN WAR ORDERS

CHICAGO, May 19.—Reports from Rome that metal hooks had been found in shipments of canned meats to the allies were termed ridiculous by the packers here today, who said the dispatches are grossly exaggerated.

"It is possible that small bits of metal may get into the canned meat on rare occasions," said Lawrence H. Armour of Armour and company, "but careful inspection usually prevents any errors of this sort."

"If there were any truth to the dispatches, I believe I would have heard something from the representatives of the allies," he said.

Hints of a possible German plot were scoffed at.

It is not what we eat that nourishes, but what we digest; it is not what we learn that instructs, but what we retain.

TO STAGE "JULIUS CAESAR" IN THE CALIFORNIA HILLS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 19.—A huge throng of southern Californians assembled today to pay tribute to the memory of William Shakespeare by observing the tercentenary of the bard's birthday with an open air production after dark in the hills back of Hollywood, of the tragedy of "Julius Caesar."

The sun today went down upon the white, majestic walls of Rome—just north of Hollywood. The setting of the ancient capital of the world as Shakespeare wrote it has been put into being on seven knolls in the hills where the pageant will be staged.

Tyrone Power, one of the best known of American actors, will play the leading part.

Several thousand persons will participate in the play. Battles will be fought by torchlight on the hillside, and one of the final spectacles of the evening will be the huge funeral pyre of dead-Roman heroes.

Between forty and 60,000 persons will witness the pageant, it is estimated.

However good your jests may be, it is not good to make a trade of jesting.

INTEREST IN BABY WEEK INCREASING DAY BY DAY

Increasing interest day by day is being manifested by the mothers of La Crosse in the Baby Week campaign being prosecuted by the clubwomen of the city, until yesterday the Baby Station at the Washington school, Sixteenth and Vine streets, was filled to its utmost capacity, and Dr. Edward F. Christian and three nurses were kept busy long after the hour of closing, examining the babies, taking measurements and answering the questions of the mothers. At the suggestion of Mrs. George H. Bretz, general Baby Week chairman, the meeting resolved itself into a round table, the mothers asking whatever questions they desired. An example of the interested being taken by mothers in the campaign was the presence at the meeting yesterday of a mother, bringing her sixteen months old child, who had been at the session of the day before with her seven weeks old baby.

On account of the Shakespearean pageant being presented today by the La Crosse high school, the Baby Station scheduled to be held at the Logan school this afternoon will not be opened until tomorrow afternoon. The committee in charge of tomorrow's meeting consists of the Mesdames Alonzo A. Chubb, Herbert L. Partridge, Christian L. Lien and W. R. Woods and Miss Mary Devine.

MOTOR TO MINNEAPOLIS

Taking advantage of the half-holiday granted the public schools today, Prof. and Mrs. Frank H. Fowler and party, which includes three teachers in the La Crosse schools, the Misses Alma Hosely, Nellie Jacobs and Anna Thrall, motored to Minneapolis this afternoon. They will return Sunday afternoon.

BLIND EXHIBIT INTERESTING

La Crosse women will be much interested in the exhibition and sale of articles made by the blind women of the state now being held at the Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club and under the direct supervision of Miss M. Ada Turner, field worker of the school for the blind at Janesville. The exhibit includes beautiful specimens of tatting and crocheting, weaving, basketry, and fancy work of various kinds. The purposes of the exhibition are to create a market for the handicraft of the blind women of Wisconsin and to educate the public as to the capabilities of those unfortunately deprived of sight. Many of the blind women are residents of the small cities and towns and of the rural communities and find it difficult to dispose of their work, and it is to meet this need that these exhibitions are being held throughout the state.

AFTERNOON COFFEE

Mrs. John McDonald was hostess at a delightful informal coffee Tuesday afternoon at her home, 720 South Eighth street. Those present were the Mesdames Ed Kevin, Ed Lyons, Bert Jolivet, Frank Forbes, L. L. Brown and Arthur Holbek and Miss Laura Holbek.

MACCABEES TO MEET

The Lady Maccabees, New Century Hive No. 101, will hold their regular meeting at Central hall tonight. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Kemp.

ENTERTAIN FOR BRIDES

Miss Clara Munz and Mrs. E. Stringer were hostesses at a five o'clock coffee yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Munz, 530 South Sixteenth street, complimentary to the Misses Genevieve Miller and Eileen Burns, who are both to be married in June.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mrs. Henri de Galler, who has been visiting old friends in the city, has left for her home at Los Angeles, making the trip via Lincoln and Omaha, stopping over at these places with friends. Mrs. de Galler was formerly Miss Irene Pollys.

No Powder Puffs For The Delegates To The New York Biennial

Chairman Says They're Not Sanitary and Besides the Ladies Will Be too Busy—Lay in Stock of Toilet Accessories

NEW YORK, May 19.—Absolutely the final touch in preparedness was furnished today by the arrangements committee for the convention next week of the General Federation of Women's clubs. The touch was the contracting for 400,000 hairpins, several hundred gross of pins, two or three hundred papers of needles, a dozen boxes or so of thread, 200 pairs of scissors and an assembly of quite a few thousand mirrors.

But there will be no powder puffs. "They are not sanitary," explained Mrs. William Grant Brown, chairman of the local board, "and besides everybody will be too busy to powder their noses."

The committee figures that where there are 20,000 women assembled there is bound to be a frightful mortality in hairpins, a considerable loss in plain pins and possibly quite a few gowns that developed tears. The supplies committee wants every woman to feel at home.

Under the heading of comfort should also be chronicled the fact that Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the federated clubs, will sit in a special chair during the proceedings. Mrs. Pennybacker is a small woman and has a standing horror of sitting in chairs where her feet do not touch the floor. A special chair has been built, on comfort-guaranteed lines.

The convention officially opens Wednesday, but preliminary meetings will begin Sunday.

British Agents Arrest California Woman

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—The seizure of Mrs. Gertrude Evelyn of this city, with her young daughter, by the British government agents at Falmouth, while the two were returning home from Germany, has caused no little sensation. Mrs. Evelyn formerly had charge of the foreign correspondence in the San Francisco office of the Hamburg-American line. According to her husband, she went abroad to settle up an estate, but he is hazy about the details. The woman is the daughter of a German official, and Evelyn, who is an Englishman, married her in Paris after a short courtship at an exhibition at Nancy. The child was born in Belgium. Evelyn claims he is a naturalized American citizen, and the United States officials are investigating. The accused woman was Frau Sturm, and she is exceptionally brilliant.

Will Go to France to Teach Blind Soldiers

PHILADELPHIA — Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of the late president, has planned to go to France during the autumn to teach soldiers who have become blinded in the war. She is studying a system of alphabetical instruction at a school for the blind to prepare for the work. Miss Cleveland is an expert nurse. On her arrival in Paris, she will be sent to the American hospital at Neuilly. Her companion in school here is Miss Maria Osborne, daughter of the president of the American Museum of Natural History.

Mothers' Day Observance Has Special Significance

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—The observance of Mothers' Day in Florida has a special significance this year. For Florida has taken the lead among southern states in the movement for the care of indigent mothers at the expense of the state. The indications are that the legislature in 1917 will adopt a measure provid-

Nestlé's Food

(a complete food—not a milk modifier)

If you can't nurse the baby, Nestlé's is the only safe food to give him, because Nestlé's is so like his mother's milk, he won't feel the difference.

In Nestlé's—milk from healthy cows, purified—free from germs—the calf needs are modified—the baby needs are added.

Reduced to a powder—it comes to you in an air-tight can. No hand has touched it—no germ can reach it. It is a complete food so you only add water and boil one minute—and you may know you are giving your baby the food his little body needs.

Send the coupon for a free sample of Nestlé's, enough for twelve feedings, and the specialist's book on the care of babies. Don't delay. Your baby's health depends on the food you give him now.

THOMAS M'CARTY DEAD IN SEATTLE

Thomas McCarty, father of Mrs. T. B. O'Brien of Onalaska, and formerly a boat carpenter with the McDonald brothers interests of this city, is dead at the home of his son, G. F. McCarty, in Seattle, Wash. He was eighty years of age.

Surviving him are his widow, three sons, T. E., Duluth; G. F., of Seattle and T. W., of Canada, and one daughter, Mrs. T. B. O'Brien, Onalaska.

Haste is but a poor apology; take time and do your business well.

PASSENGER BLAMES MINE FOR SINKING OF DUTCH VESSEL

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—That a mine explosion probably was responsible for sinking the Dutch steamer Batavia V. was reported by one of the survivors. Ambassador Page notified the state department. His message said:

"Batavia V., Dutch steamship, Tilbury to Rotterdam with passengers and cargo was sunk yesterday (Sunday) at noon. Luigi Martini Mancini, wireless expert, American citizen, New Mexico (Roswell) drowned. Samuel Howard Comstock, American citizen (Santa Monica, Cal.) and John Joseph Kalita, native American citizen of Brooklyn, N. P., Marconi operator, were saved.

"Comstock thinks explosion was by a mine."

PUBLIC DEBATE

La Crosse, Wis., May 16, 1916. Editor, Tribune Publishing Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sir:—Knowing that your paper takes an active interest in the welfare of our city, I believe that you will kindly allow me space in your valuable columns to correct an existing evil that has already had a far reaching effect and will if allowed to continue, seriously retard our future growth.

It seems to be a practice of certain local real estate dealers, as well as certain banks, to supply outside capitalists and investors with reports of the value of real estate in this city. As these reports are often sent out without any investigation or regard for a true valuation, they are sometimes ridiculously low and inaccurate but extremely harmful, as such reports prevent outside capitalists from investing in real estate in our city.

A few years ago I acquired a property in North La Crosse and being favorably impressed by its location and value, I cheerfully expended about $4,000 in improving the property. I then started to find a buyer, but I have been unmercifully knocked and hammered by the above mentioned reports.

The following incident which happened to me in Chicago a few days ago, speaks for itself. A certain Chicago firm informed me that they had a buyer for the property above mentioned and asked me to come to Chicago and close the deal. Upon my arrival, they showed me a letter from one of our local banks in which it was stated that a certain sum in their opinion was about what the property was worth. This sum was only one-fifth of what a responsible and reputable local builder and contractor said it would cost to put up the main building alone and said sum amounted to only one-third of what a local real estate man offered me in behalf of a client and which offer I refused to consider. I had with me large photographs of the property which convinced the Chicago firm that my price was fair, but their client refused to invest in a city whose banks would send out such reports about real estate values, as there in his opinion was something the matter either with the city or its real estate.

The firm, however, admitted that I had been unfairly dealt with and upon my request surrendered the letter from the local bank, which letter is now in my possession and will be published later.

Now as our real estate values are the very foundation upon which our city's future and growth depends, it can be clearly seen that such reports fender the efforts of our Board of Trade, the North Side Progressive League, as well as the labor of other public spirited citizens who try to upbuild and promote the city's interest in vain and useless. The banks or local dealers who send out such reports should be summarily dealt with and exposed.

Now I have always held that there is no reason why real estate values in La Crosse should not compare favorably with those of other cities. We have the natural resources, an ideal location, with unsurpassed scenery and beauty and I feel that by simply asserting our manhood and civic pride, we can easily attain what nature itself is so lavishly helping us to have—that is the fairest city of its size within the boundaries of the United States.

Respectfully,
BARNEY OLSEN.

PUT PEACE ON WAR FOOTING

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 19.—"Put peace on a war footing," was the advice to the Lake-Mohonk conference on international arbitration given yesterday by Herbert S. Houston, chairman of the committee on information.

"Advocates of peace quit the forum for the field, if need be, to fight, not to urge war, but to establish peace," Houston asserted.

ELDERLY WOMEN SAFEGUARDED

Tell Others How They Were Carried Safely Through Change of Life.

Durand, Wis.—"I am the mother of fourteen children and I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I was 45 and had the Change of Life, a friend recommended it and it gave me such relief from my bad feelings that I took several bottles. I am now well and healthy and recommend your Compound to other ladies."

—Mrs. MARY RIDGWAY, Durand, Wis.

A Massachusetts Woman Writes: Blackstone, Mass.—"My troubles were from my age, and I felt awfully sick for three years. I had hot flashes often and frequently suffered from pains. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now am well."

—Mrs. PIERRE COUNOYER, Box 239, Blackstone, Mass.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness, should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through this crisis.

The federal board for vocational education is to consist of four members, appointed by the president, and the United States commissioner of education, who is to be its chairman. When the bill was first drafted it provided that the board should consist of the members of the cabinet, but this was seriously objected to by the National Society for the Promotion of Vocational Education.

It was pointed out by them that the secretaries of the various departments had all and more than they could attend to at present, and the work would be left to some under secretary or clerk who might happen not to be equipped to handle the job. Instead it was suggested that the members of the board be chosen from the various trades represented—one each from agriculture, labor, industry and commerce.

The bill as it now stands is a compromise between the two, the departmental secretaries being eliminated, but the president being allowed to choose anyone he wishes from a lawyer or college professor to an expert plumber.

For Research Work

The board is created for the purpose of studying and doing research work concerning the vocational school. European methods will be investigated and discussed, and the various trade and labor problems of the country taken into consideration. Various sections of the country will be studied, with a view to determining where are needed the most plumbers, the most blacksmiths, the greatest number of factory hands, or mechanics. The results of this investigation will then be turned over to the state boards for vocational education for the information of the teachers.

The majority of children at the age of 14 or 15 do not show marked adaptability for any one trade or profession. There are exceptions, of course, where boys show distinct tendencies to be mechanics or bookkeepers, but the average lad reaches the age of 21 with more or less regrets that he did not go into forestry instead of law, or bricklaying instead of plumbing, or farming instead of stocks and bonds. It is also a well-known fact that if one boy who enjoys a certain amount of prestige among his schoolmates decides that he wants to be an actor or a street car conductor, all the other boys immediately decide upon the same thing. Thus the problems confronting the teacher of vocational education are not always as simple as the psychologists would have us believe.

Teachers and Cash

The Smith-Hughes act, therefore, not only provides funds for the states to expend in procuring teachers to carry on vocational schools, but it also makes appropriations for training vocational teachers. The sum of $500,000 is appropriated the first year to be divided among the states in proportion to their rural population, and a like amount for the urban population. This is increased by $250,000 each year until it reaches $3,000,000, which is the highest appropriation. Thus Illinois, which has a rural population of over 2,000,000 persons will receive nearly $22,000 the first year for agricultural instruction; and with an urban population of over 5,000,000 will receive $30,650 for city vocational schools.

In addition to these appropriations, $500,000 is to be divided among the states for the training of teachers for vocational instruction. This is increased yearly by $200,000 until 1920 when $1,000,000 is reached, which is the maximum amount to be appropriated for that purpose.

Three Classes of Schools

This money is to be given to state boards for vocational education created by state legislation, which will have to comply with the regulations of the act before they may take advantage of its provisions. The vocational schools to be established by them with federal funds must be controlled by the public, and may be of three classes: "All-day schools in which practically half of the time should be given to actual practice for a vocation on a useful or productive basis; part-time schools for young workers over 14 years of age, which should extend either their vocational knowledge or give preparation for entrance to a vocation or extend the general civic or vocational intelligence of the pupils; and evening schools to extend the vocational knowledge for mature workers over 16 years of age." In order to take advantage of the federal money provision, the state must raise an equal amount either by legislative appropriation or municipal efforts or gifts from interested citizens. Under the Smith-Hughes Act for agricultural extension work a great deal of the money contributed by the states was raised by the various states' organizations and clubs.

While there are a few industrial and vocational schools in this country, there is no adequate provision for this sort of education at all. In its investigations into the subject, the committee on education discovered that the United States has fewer trade schools than Bavaria and not as many public facilities for training workers as the city of Munich in Germany. There are over 14,000,000 industrial workers in this country, and it is estimated that not one out of every hundred of these has had any opportunity for preparing himself for his trade. The Smith-Hughes bill is designed to remedy this unfortunate situation.

UNITY OBJECTS TO RAIL BOARD'S AID

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—This week the Wisconsin railroad commission has learned indirectly that the village of Unity has granted a franchise to an electric company. One of the provisions was that in the event the company desired any revision upwards of its rates it should not appeal to the railroad commission. Why this community should take such an attitude against the commission is not known. However, it is assumed that this city will be the first to exercise its rights under that provision of the public utility law giving the community the right to fix the rates, if it so desires, subject to an appeal to the railroad commission.

Village Advertises for Bids for Construction of Street Lighting Posts to Be Built Soon

WESTBY, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—The village of Westby is soon to be in possession of a White Way system on its principal streets in the near future. Bids are now being advertised for the work. The planned improvement is following the construction of a new group of village buildings and extensive street improvement.

ELECTRICITY MASTERS THE MOUNTAIN BARRIERS

One of the most stupendous problems of western railroading has been the mountains. To lift the tremendous tonnage of the transcontinental trains over the mile-in-the-air crests of the mountains is a Herculean task under the most favorable conditions, and when snow fills the passes, and cold belagueres the fire boxes of the steam locomotive, the difficulties of mountain operation become well-nigh insuperable.

Remarkable, therefore, was the recent record of one of the "Milwaukee's" new Electric Locomotives, pulling the all-steel "Olympian" over the Rockies—receiving the train at Deer Lodge, Montana, forty-five minutes late, and having to traverse the mile-high pass of the Great Continental Divide in the dead of winter. It made up the lost time in the run of 115 miles and arrived at Three Forks, Montana, on scheduled time.

This astounding record shows that the Electric Locomotive has proved itself "Master of the Mountain Barriers." Fed with the tremendous energy of the mountain streams, making an ally of the cold weather which aids in keeping the motors cool—it penetrates the snowdrifts with comparative ease—hauls heavier loads with greater dispatch and a pronounced saving in cost, and opens a new world of delights to the traveler.

On your next trip to the Pacific North Coast, take either of the superb all-steel trains, "The Olympian" or "The Columbian," over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and enjoy the advantages of electric travel, combined with unsurpassed scenery and service.

MRS. BRADLEY IS

BURIED AT SALEM

WEST SALEM, Wis., May 19.—(Special.)—In the passing of Mrs. W. A. Bradley at her home in this village Friday morning, May 12, this community sustained a loss that would be hard to estimate, for she was a friend to everybody, confident to many and enemy to none.

Mrs. Bradley was born near this village on May 28, 1861, and spent her entire life in the village and immediate vicinity, so that there was none here more widely known, and, having always been of the sunniest and most friendly disposition, there was never one more generally and cordially loved.

Her association with her mother-in-law in the management of the well known "Taylor house", for many years, helped to widen the circle of her acquaintance and to make many friendships outside of the village.

She was united in marriage to W. A. Bradley of this place on December 18, 1913, and enjoyed to the full her beautiful home and its activities, her circle of friends, old and young, and the social life of the town generally, up to the day of her death.

On Thursday, the eleventh, she accompanied Mr. Bradley on a motor trip to Melrose whither they went to meet and bring home with them friends who were to be their guests over the week-end. The day was one of the happiest of her life; and the ride, the company, the dinner and the gathering of wild-flowers by the way, all were parts of a radiant day that none could have guessed was to be her last.

When the party arrived at home she stepped over to the house of her nearest neighbor to get a bottle of milk that had been left there for her, and on her return, passing through the kitchen, she went into the bedroom and lay down.

Nothing more is known except that a minute later Mr. Bradley heard a groan and, going to her, learned that she had a dreadful headache. She immediately passed into an unconscious state from which she never quite fully rallied. The doctor was quickly summoned; then the trained nurse; but all that these and the willing help of many friends could do availed nothing and with the coming of the morning came the end.

The rest is best told in the way which is most eloquent and unmistakable, just the simple tale of the expressions of profound feelings as they came from her many, many friends.

Telegrams and telephone messages came from many people. The house, and even the yard, was swarmed with friends, coming and going, including many from out of town points.

When the funeral service came on Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church, there was an attendance that taxed the capacity of the building. There was such a profusion of flowers, and in such elaborate designs and clusters as one may not hope often to see.

CITY NEWS TICKER

Rutz Funeral Saturday

Louis Rutz, pioneer St. Joseph ridge farmer, will be buried tomorrow morning with services at 8 o'clock in St. Joseph's church on the ridge. Rev. Peter Fraling will officiate.

Deserter Taken Here

Irvin Reid, alleged to be wanted in Sioux City, Ia., for wife abandonment, was arrested here yesterday on complaint of the Hawkeye authorities. He has been in La Crosse a month, working as a painter.

Examine Theaters

Chief of Police John B. Webber, Acting Fire Chief McGlathlin and C. J. Lockney, inspector of the industrial commission, started upon a tour of the city's theaters and public halls this morning. They are examining to see if changes ordered after an inspection last fall have been carried out.

Schlachbach Has Moved

District Attorney Otto M. Schlachbach is moving today from his temporary quarters on the third floor of the Linker building to his newly finished offices across the hall. Morris and Hartwell are scheduled to move into their new suite early next week.

INSPECT UNIVERSITY

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—Governor Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi and a party of his officials are in Madison for the purpose of inspecting the university. The governor and his party are on a tour of different state universities for this purpose.

Governor Bilbo and party yesterday inspected the work of the extension department of the university with Dean Louis Reber.

High School Haps

The two literary societies of the school, the Wendell-Phillips and the Lincoln-Douglas, have at last decided to hold a joint meeting for the first time in three years. Formerly it was quite the custom for two societies to meet in one room and have it out in a good debate but of late the rivalry has been so intense that such a meeting was prohibited, fearing for the peace of the school. The meeting Friday evening will of necessity be "joint" in the full meaning, the debaters on the two sides being taken at random from both societies. The question will be surfrage. The class play is coming splendidly. Practice is held every night and under the able coaching of Miss Constance the three acts have been taken separately for a week at a time and full rehearsals begin next week. The play, "Green Stockings", is most amusing. June 2 promises to be the big night of the commencement activities.

Class day will be held June 7 to 9 and the varied and many "stunts" which have been worked up promise interesting things. A new idea has been put into motion this year by Mr. Collinge. Every one of the seniors and advanced senior boys have been given parts to play in the senior "Circus". Joe Boyle as ring master, has been using the lash freely and some original antics will be presented in the gym on May 31.

The school has "measured up". Spring fever, which caused fifty-seven registrations on Monday and Tuesday of last week, received a bad scare from Mr. McCormick on Wednesday and as a result only 241 saw fit to leave the study halls on Thursday and Friday. The seniors and advanced junior study halls were the only ones which did not cut registration by more than half. The lengthened schedule will not be adopted for the time being at least.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO CARRY LOCAL K. C.

One hundred Knights of Columbus of La Crosse will board a special Burlington train for Prairie du Chien Sunday morning. They will take a prominent part in the ceremonies attending the formal dedication exercises of the new Knights of Columbus council at Prairie du Chien. The train leaves the Burlington station at 10 o'clock. The local delegation will be led by Grand Knight Edward J. Steinmetz, and will be joined at Prairie du Chien from delegations of Knights from all over Wisconsin and nearby states.

WAR ODDITIES

ROME—The Austrian government has renewed for twelve months its leases of the embassy building in Rome and its consular offices throughout Italy, albeit the two countries are at war.

LONDON, May 19.—Because of the high cost of shoes, hundreds of school children in South London are wearing wooden clogs.

LONDON, May 19.—Private William Kirkbride, former champion rifle shot of 20,000 recruits, is reported to have so far "sniped" twenty-five enemies at the front.

Not by a Long Way. "Do man dat goes lookin' foh trouble," said Uncle Eben, "doesn't most always git de easy kind he had made up his mind to."

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

DOCTOR AND WIFE GOT DRUG HABIT FIGHTING MALARIA

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 19.—The story of an ambitious young doctor and his wife, a graduate nurse, who for four years went into malarial swamps of Louisiana with hopes of winning fame with a new treatment for malaria that would abolish the use of opiates and narcotics, was narrated in district court today when Mrs. John H. Dexter was arraigned on a technical charge of vagrancy while Dr. Dexter is at the hospital for insane, being treated for use of morphine.

Mrs. Dexter is the daughter of a wealthy timber man of Rhinelander, Wis. Dr. Dexter was graduated from a medical school in Grand Rapids, Mich., four years ago. He hired his wife, who was graduated at the same time, as a nurse. They went into the malarial sections of the south with a new treatment for the disease.

"I contracted malaria within a short time," Dr. Dexter stated when arraigned before Judge Backus recently on the charge of passing worthless checks. "I used morphine and later my wife got the habit from me."

"During the past two years, I have spent nearly $5,000 trying to cure myself of the habit. My mother also spent money. I was on my way to a sanitarium at Rockford, Ill., for treatment, but when I reached Milwaukee my funds gave out. I passed worthless checks in order to get money to buy morphine with."

When Mrs. Dexter was arraigned for trial today it was expected that her father would come from his summer home at Hazelhurst, Wis., where he has been living, to aid his daughter.

A good education consists in a combination of good habits.

ADMISSION IS 100 DEAD FLIES

BENTONVILLE, Ark., May 19.—The boys of Bentonville "don't need no money" to see the movies here on Friday nights. The admission is 100 dead flies, or ten cents cash.

A local movie magnate has posted a sign reading, "Admission, 100 Dead Flies" and it is making a hit. Every Friday night 100 of the swatted corpses admit you to his theater. And then you can win five extra tickets for bringing in the largest number.

Bentonville citizens have taken to the novelty and indications are that flies will soon be an unknown quantity here.

BRITISH MOVIE FANS GREET WILSON PICTURE SILENTLY

BY WILBUR S. FORREST (United Press Staff Correspondent.) LONDON, May 8.—(By mail.)—The best cheered man in England is Sir John Jellicoe.

The silent little admiral who sits on the British navy lid is today England's most popular hero.

This message comes from the British movie theaters—a reliable barometer of public sentiment.

Lord Kitchener's face on the screen always gets "a hand".

Sir John French is sometimes cheered.

Murmurs of probable admiration roll through the audiences when Sir Douglas Haig, Sir Charles Monro or other British generals in the field show up.

Members of the cabinet are met with approval always, but no loud demonstrations.

President Wilson and American notables are greeted silently. But sit in any British movie theater and let the operator throw the strong, prominent nosed face of Sir John Jellicoe on the kalsomine and the tumult of hand clapping and cheering rolls forth from stalls to gallery.

Jellicoe is a Sphinx—the mystery admiral. He has established a reputation for deeds and not words. In his face is action, determination, lightning decision, self control and wisdom.

Nowhere outside the great walls of the admiralty building in Whitehall is anything known of Jellicoe at present. Here the slender strings of wireless antennae swinging over the building connect with the aerials on Jellicoe's ship "Somewhere" in the North sea" where he is waiting for the Germans to come out; superintending the naval blockade and always adjusting the final twist of preparedness which has kept England from sharing the fate of Belgium, Poland and Serbia.

Ordinary British folk who go to movie theaters and never share the secrets of the admiralty wireless, have learned to connect the name of Jellicoe with the security they enjoy at home. So every time his face appears they cheer it wildly.

HIDING IN PAJAMAS

NEW YORK, May 19.—Clad in pink pajamas, two cocaine patients at Bellevue are in hiding somewhere in New York today. They escaped last night. It is a cold, cold day.

True freedom consists in this, that every man shall do whatever he likes without injury to another.

MAKING CHILDREN EAT

Nothing is ever gained by forcing a child to eat when it refuses food. Make sure that nothing is being eaten between meals to destroy the natural appetite and if your growing child does not have a healthful craving for good, honest food at mealtimes there is something the matter. Threats of punishment if the child does not eat will not correct the difficulty.

A filial appetite in a growing child, especially if the patient is pale, languid, nervous, irritable, and without ambition, usually means that the blood is thin. A non-alcoholic tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is demanded.

During her teens a girl lays the foundation for her future health. Lack of blood at this time may rob her of robust, healthy womanhood. It is of the greatest importance to administer to girls who grow pale and weak a safe tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills meet every requirement of the most careful mother. They make the blood rich and red and it carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Send today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the book, "Building Up the Blood." It is free.

WILL THERE BE A HUMPHREY IN YOUR NEW HOME?

The greatest convenience you can possibly plan for your new home—the greatest aid to cleanliness, health, and comfort—is an abundant, ever-ready supply of hot water.

HUMPHREY Automatic Gas Water Heater

belongs in every modern home in the same way as a modern lighting or heating system. With a Humphrey, five cents pays for 50 gallons. No fuel waste. Gas burns only when water runs. Use hot water all day in the laundry, kitchen or bathroom, runs piping hot as long as a faucet is open—closing the faucet automatically shuts off the gas, and expense stops. Made in five sizes—a proper size for every service. Why not have this service in your home?

COMISH STANDS PAT ON BAN ON CHAMPION WELSH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 19.—The Wisconsin boxing commission stood pat today on its four months' suspension of Freddie Welsh. In reply to the New York boxing commission, the Badger fight board said Welsh had violated some Wisconsin rule every time he fought in this state.

Never is. "I think that cooking is woman's work," said the young wife. "Yes," answered her husband, as he pushed away his share of the turkey, "and I have heard that woman's work is never done."

INDIAN PLAYERS BEST RUN GETTERS

CLEVELAND, O., May 19.—Jack Grane, Indian left fielder, is the leading run getter in the American league today despite the fact he is only batting .246. Grane has been at bat 14 times, batted 28 hits and scored 21 runs. Speaker, second in the American league in run getting, has been up 98 times, swatted 31 hits and scored twenty runs, his percentage being .398. Speaker leads the league in clotting.

Words of Wisdom. It is by vivacity and wit that man shines in company; but trite jokes and loud laughter reduce him to a buffoon.—Chesterfield.

WOULD RACE STARS

CHICAGO, May 19.—A quarter mile race between Binga Dismond, Chicago University track star, and Ted Meredith of Pennsylvania university, will be held on Stag field here on June 10, if efforts of Coach Stag of the Maroons are successful in bringing the eastern star here. The race would be held in conjunction with the interscholastic meet.

Biblical Names Popular. A paragrapher asserts that England can boast that no other country possesses so many Scriptural place names as are found in that country. The name of Jericho occurs six times on the map. Paradise five times and Nineveh, Mt. Zion, Mt. Ararat and Mt. Ephraim three times each.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Homers
McInnis, Athletics, off Faber, White Sox.
Killifer, Cincinnati, off Reulbach, Braves.

Walter Johnson fell down on the job of trying to pitch the Senators into first place in the American league. The Indian pitching wizard had lots of smoke but the Indians bunched hits on him.

The Braves and Dodgers stood still yesterday. Both lost. A win for either one would have given it the lead in the National league race. Lajoie of the Athletics has averaged two hits a day for the last three days. It doesn't look like he's lost his batting eye.

Meyers of the Athletics won his fifth straight game by beating the White Sox.

The Glants made it eight straight by beating the Cards. Benton pitched great ball for the New Yorkers, not a Cardinal getting past second. McKechnie of the Glants had a clean record. He made four hits out of four times up. One was a double.

The Pirates were shoved down a bit further. Grover Alexander allowed the Pirates four hits, Philadelphia winning three to nothing. Honus Wagner shifted the lineup. He sent himself to first and put Smith at short. Both played a good game but the change didn't worry the Phillies.

The Browns now know how it feels to beat Foster of the Red Sox. It was the first time the Boston star has been beaten by St. Louis since he became a big leaguer.

Shotton of the Browns made four clean hits off Foster.

BADGERS BEAT ST. JOSEPH

The Badgers yesterday proved too much for the St. Joseph boys, who lost 16 to 4 in indoor baseball on central fire station lot.

High Teams Stand in Rank of Years
Standing of the Teams
W. L. Pct.
Senior . . . 4 1 .300
Junior . . . 3 1 .750
Sophomores . . . 2 2 .500
Freshmen . . . 0 4 .000

After two weeks of play the class baseball teams stand exactly in the places that their scholastic position would put them in. Beyond a doubt the two strongest teams in the league are the upper classmen and things favor the seniors slightly as they have succeeded in once defeating the third year men. The sophomores landed on them in a hard fought game, however, so the juniors still have an equal chance at the shield which will be awarded at the end of the season. The under classmen especially are busy with the pageant this week so no games are being played. Although there are still three weeks of games scheduled it was not attempted to play the final series this week, the upper classmen feeling confident that they would be the contesting teams no matter when the series was played, but Coach Horne and Manager Roeder objected.

Rumors spreading the forest part of the week that Vialo, Soldiers Grove and Viroqua would join forces and challenge a team of any number of La Crosse men for a meet this Saturday proved true. The dual meet was to be held at Viola, but the athletic authorities of the school objected.

The present time is the best, because it is our own.

STAR HURLER OF BOSTON IS EASY FOR THE BROWNS

Cleveland Jumps on Walter Johnson and Winning Streak of Senators Is Broken

BOSTON, May 19.—The Browns hit Foster's offerings to all corners of the lot yesterday, trimming the Red Sox 7 to 1. Weisman was at top form and the locals were able to do nothing with his curves. Score: R H E St. Louis . . . 100100023—7 13 0 Boston . . . 000001000—1 5 2 Batteries: Weisman and Severoid; Foster, Cady and Agnew.

Indians 4; Senators 2
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Cleveland hit Walter Johnson hard in the second and seventh innings on Thursday and defeated the Senators 4 to 2. The defeat broke Washington's winning streak of seven straight. Score: R H E Cleveland . . . 020000200—4 8 0 Washington . . . 001000100—2 9 2 Batteries: Coveleskie, Bagby and O'Neil; Johnson and Williams.

Macks 5; Sox 1
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 19.—Philadelphia drove Faber off the rubber in the seventh inning on Thursday and beat Chicago, 5 to 1. Myers held the visitors to seven hits, Felch, who scored in the first inning, being the only visiting player to get past second base. Score: R H E Chicago . . . 100000000—1 8 3 Philadelphia . . . 001100300—5 9 2 Batteries: Faber, Williams, Benz and Schalk; Myers and Schang.

TOGS ARRIVE IN TIME FOR NORMAL TRIP TO STOUT

If appearances help to "bring home the bacon", the ten normal men who are to meet the Stout Institute track team at Menominee tomorrow will certainly be victorious. Ten bright new jerseys, maroon in color with a white stripe, arrived this morning in time to jump the Milwaukee train with the track men who were leaving for the north. The abbreviated white pants with the maroon trimmings, it is hoped, will also reach the scene of action by tomorrow so that the normal decorations will be complete.

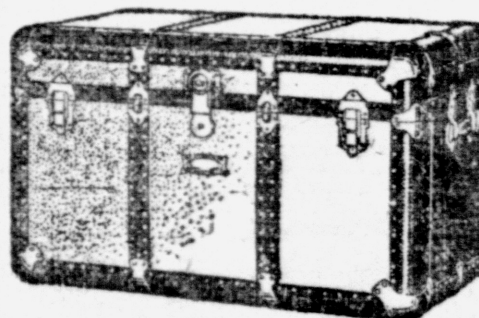

Dr. Sputh left with his men on the 10:40 Milwaukee. Besides the coach and Manager Holthaus, the remaining men who made the trip were Captain Taylor, Ryan, Grausnick, Meiert, Renner, Hodge, Bechtold, Adair, Gensmann and Walker.

It is probable that Braun, star of the Milwaukee normal track team last year, would also have been taken along by Dr. Sputh had not the Cassville lad attempted to remain too near the ground in getting over one of the hurdles on Wednesday night. He fell on the cinder track and as a result is in poor condition. He has been showing up very well in the hurdles during the past week. Meiert also hurt his back in going over a hurdle in the fore part of the week.

It was by a process of Evolution which took years of experiment and study as to strength of materials and the best methods of construction to insure long service, that the

GIBBONS' SHOWING WITH TED LEWIS A DISAPPOINTMENT

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul is looked upon as having "gone back" or as having failed to try today, following his bout with Ted (Kid) Lewis. The ringside referees are about evenly divided in their verdict and practically all agree that Mike, with his advantage of 10 1/2 pounds, weighing in at 152 1/2 and Lewis at 142, should have won decisively. Neither man was punished much and both men were fighting hard when the mill closed.

It is not the place that makes the person honorable, but the person that makes the place so.
